ENCOURAGED OVER PEACE OUTLOOK

Mediators Hopeful Today in Spite of Balking of Carranza

BELIEVE HUERTA WILL SOON BE FORCED TO QUIT

Emory Released—Tampico Oil Fields to Be Guarded—Ruiz is Minister

(By John Edwin Nevin).

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The mediation program is taking definite shape today. It is expected the mediators will soon be ready to announce their progress up to date. Each of them said he was hopeful, even Brazilian Ambassador Da Gama, who was originally pessimistic. They agreed that Mexico City and Washington are likely to reach terms but that General Carranza is more difficult, thus far refusing to agree to an armistice until the rebels shall capture Mexico City. It is understood that the mediators wish that President Wilson might eliminate the "Huerta must go" clause because the dictator's untenable position indicates that he will soon be eliminated anyway. Through the mediators with the diplomats at Mexico City it has been learned that the European ministers are trying to force Huerta to resign. Huerta, however, continues balky, maintaining that his attitude regarding the Tampico affair is a correct one.

Consul Canada at Vera Cruz reported today to the State Department that E. B. Emery, an American held for ransom at Zacatecas, had been released, the ransom being settled.

ESTAVO RUIZ NAMED TO SUCCEED ROJAS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The official news that Estavo Ruiz has been appointed minister of foreign affairs in Mexico, succeeding Jose Rojas, was received today by the Spanish embassy representing Huerta here.

DA GAMA IS NOW LOOKING FOR SUCCESS

Brazilian Ambassador Da Gama has assured Secretary Bryan and the mediators believe their peace plans will not be upset even if Carranza refuses to mediate. He admitted that negotiations are still in a formative state and that the mediators are delaying in the hope that Carranza will join their efforts for peace.

FACTIONS AGREE TO PROTECT TAMPICO OIL PROPERTIES

Secretary Bryan announced today that all danger of international complications from the threatened destruction of the Tampico oil properties had been averted. He said that rebels and federals had both agreed to protect them. Reports from Tampico indicate that fighting between the factions continues but was only desultory today.

HUERTA SAYS HUNT AND OTHERS WILL BE PROTECTED

NEWPORT, R. I., May 2.—In response to telegraph appeals for the protection of her brother, J. Starr Hunt, in Mexico City, Mrs. John Dufais received a message today from Huerta saying that Hunt will be fully protected "as well as others." Hunt was taken from the train that took O'Shaughnessy and other refugees to Vera Cruz.

FUNERAL SHIP TO LEAVE VERA CRUZ MONDAY

NEW YORK, May 2.—The funeral ship Montana with the bodies of the Americans killed in the occupation of Vera Cruz battle, will sail for New York on Monday, arriving here the following Saturday. Services of a national character will probably be arranged. Secretary of the Navy Daniels has asked the co-operation of the War Department. Every honor to the dead will be shown. A mammoth military naval parade here is planned, also memorial services in the cities where the slain Americans lived.

3 STRIKEBREAKERS DIE IN COLO. FIRE

DENVER, May 2.—Three were burned to death today in a fire destroying several buildings at Oak Creek in Routts county, according to a report received at the governor's office. Jack Snow and Robert Doggett are dead. It was also reported that an unidentified man was burned to death. The men were strikebreakers. Mine owners claim that strikers caused the fire.

Wilson Decides On Personnel of Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The President practically decided today on the personnel of the Banking Reserve Board to be named under the new currency law. He expected today to send his nominations to the senate next week. It is generally believed the announcement would have been made already but for the administration's efforts to secure the services of a former high government official and famous lawyer for chairman. The individual's name is withheld because it is stated that thus far he has refused to emerge from private life again. The President is maintaining the profoundest secrecy as to the board's membership. Secretaries McAdoo and Houston are his only confidants. Rumor persists, however, that Paul Warburg of the Kuhn-Loeb company, is among the selections.

The wording of the order: "All persons not belonging to the military forces," is taken to include the civilian mine guards. It was stated that a time limit will be set for disarmament.

The proclamation was couched in military terms. Receipts are promised for arms and ammunition surrendered, but this implied promise was only a pledge that the munitions will some day be returned. Places will be designated where the troops will receive their arms.

The strike district will be divided into four districts with centers at Louisville, Trinidad, Canon City and Ludlow. As more troops arrive, these will be subdivided. SANTA ANANS IN NO DANGER IN MEXICO

Louis Shrewsbury, Near Mexico City, Wrote Mother Not to Worry

MISS WARNE, NURSE, SENDS REASSURANCES

Miss Annette McClintock Experienced No Trouble Getting Home

From all that can be learned by their relatives here two Santa Anans now in Mexico are in no danger whatever Louis Shrewsbury, who is employed in a mine about 70 miles from Mexico City, stated, in his last letter to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Shrewsbury, of 403 Washington avenue, that he anticipated no danger to himself. Miss Martha Warne, daughter of Mrs. M. Warne, 607 East Fifth street, telegraphed last Wednesday to the effect that she was well and for her mother not to be uneasy. Miss Warne is employed as a nurse in the American hospital, Mexico City.

Louis Shrewsbury is Chief Electrician in the El Oro mine. His mother has had no word from him for about six weeks but at that time Louis wrote that conditions were in no way disquieting. He said that there was no reason to fear trouble of any kind and that his mother need not worry.

Mrs. Shrewsbury said today that since the trouble has started in Mexico mail service has been practically at a stand-still. The last letter received from her son by Mrs. Shrewsbury was brought by friends of Louis' who came here from Mexico.

Mrs. Warne's other daughter, Miss Sarah, is a missionary in Brazil.

Miss Annette McClintock, who returned Thursday from Hermosillo, said today that she experienced no hardship in getting away from Mexico, owing to the fact that she left Hermosillo later than many of the other Americans, of whom there were about 500 in Hermosillo, and was able to use the train which conveyed the American consul. The Americans who left immediately after the dispatches came from Washington ordering all Americans out of Mexico were subjected to considerable inconvenience. They were compelled to travel on freight trains, night trains, etc.

Miss McClintock said that at Hermosillo as well as in other Mexican towns the excitement among the natives is great. Hermosillo, which is the stronghold of the constitutionalists and the headquarters of General Carranza, whom Miss McClintock knows personally, was the scene, during the latter part of her stay there of a great many street parades and rejoicings, in honor of victories won by the constitutionalists.

Practically the only real fright given the Americans at Hermosillo was about a month ago, just after the constitutionalists had taken Torreon. Every steam whistle in the city started blowing one night. Guns were fired and there was a constant in-pouring of trains into the town. The residents at first thought that a battle was imminent. It soon developed, however, that the Mexicans of Hermosillo were merely celebrating their victory at Torreon.

According to Miss McClintock there are now only about three Americans left in Hermosillo. These men stayed because they anticipated no trouble.

Of the 500 Americans who resided in Hermosillo about 100 were employed at the La Colorado mine, one of the richest in Mexico. This mine is situated about 45 miles from Hermosillo.

The nearest approach to a taste of war was experienced about a year ago at the time when all Americans had been ordered out of Mexico. Mexican soldiers rode in the train in which Miss McClintock travelled. The train was fired upon and a number of soldiers and Americans were wounded.

Fortunately the inmates of the Hermosillo hospital were all able to walk when the recent orders to evacuate were issued. The patients all got safely away.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 2.—According to J. H. McGillivray, deputy state forestry warden, there are 48,000 deer in Michigan—44,000 in the upper peninsula and 4000 in the northern part of the area south of the Straits of Mackinac.

Mr. McGillivray says there are known to be thirty-four moose in the state.

REFUGEES TELL HARROWING STORIES OF INDIGNITIES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Twenty-six refugees from the Mexican west coast arrived today on the supply ship Glacier. All told harrowing stories of insults and indignities they were subjected to before their departure. Dr. L. I. Newbre, an American dentist at Mazatlan said his home was burned and that he narrowly escaped death.

250 REFUGEES AT SAN DIEGO WITHOUT MONEY

SAN DIEGO, May 2.—Two hundred and fifty-nine refugees arriving yesterday from the west Mexican coast are seeking positions here today or are departing for cities where they have relatives and friends. They are amazed that people generally are paying so little attention to the Mexican situation. They severely criticize the government for its failure in sending troops to protect Americans remaining in Mexico.

The Red Cross office is experiencing its busiest days. As a majority of the refugees left their homes hurriedly, few of them had money and practically none had extra clothes. The Red Cross volunteered to furnish transportation to those desiring to leave, while the city will make efforts to find positions for those remaining. Among those applying for transportation was J. H. Kipp, owner of the largest hardware store in western Mexico, with $300,000 worth of stock. Kipp said: "They came to my store and gave me one hour and a half to leave Guadalajara, as it meant death to stay. I did not even have time to get a few dollars together. I do not believe I will ever return."

The refugees are firm in the opinion that the seventy-five Americans not notified in time to catch the train from Guadalajara have been killed.

LINER SIBERIA IS REPORTED SAFE

Pacific Mail Ship in Manila Port—Code Error Caused Report of Loss

MANILA, May 2.—The Pacific Mail line Siberia, reported as sunk off the Formosa coast, arrived in Manila harbor at 11 a. m. today. Captain Zeeder reported he had had an uneventful voyage from Nagasaki.

Captain Zeeder expressed the belief that the reports in circulation yesterday and last night that his vessel was in distress off the coast of Formosa and had sent out calls for assistance arose over confusion in the call letters of the steamer Persia. "M. B. S." being mistaken for "S. O. S.," the marine wireless request for aid.

The first report that the Siberia was in distress was a wireless message received at the Ogzakai station in Japan. It was said to come direct from the Siberia early Friday morning and said that the steamer had met with an accident and was in distress. The message was mutilated and no further information could be gleaned from it.

The message was communicated to the Great Northern steamer Minnesota and the British cruiser Minatour, and the Japanese government ordered the steamer Kanto Maru from a Formosan port and several warships to the scene of the reported wreck.

The Siberia left Yokohama April 27 and Nagasaki April 29 for Manila. She had a passenger list of seventy-one persons in the first cabin, about fifty in the second cabin and about 400 in the steerage.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO PROBE FALSE REPORTS

TOKIO, May 2.—The Japanese government is planning for the investigation of the circulation of false reports that the American liner Siberia was sinking yesterday. It has recalled the warships searching for the wreck. The government officials' statement is to the effect that the wireless operator mistood the Siberia's signal, "M.B.S.," to the liner Persia for "S.O.S.." An official statement will follow the probe. The Siberia arrived at Manila last night without incident.

PACKING OF ORANGES DELAYED BY SHOWERS

RIVERSIDE, May 2—Rainy weather of the past several days has greatly reduced picking and packing of oranges throughout the entire Riverside district, in which there still remains much excellent fruit. Shipments for the past week from the various houses of this section were 114 cars oranges and one car of lemons. The season's total is 2352 cars, with 23 cars of lemons. Continued rains have rendered the ground in orchards entirely too soft for wagons and trucks to operate without seriously cutting up the land, and it will require fully two days of wholesome sunshine to remedy this condition.

FUNSTON NOW IN CONTROL VERA CRUZ

Civil Government Resigns from Brief Term in Mexican Port

SNIPERS MENACE FARMERS WHO SELL TO AMERICANS

Protection Asked—Food Question Growing to Be Serious; Supplies Are Low

(By Bernard Rucker)

VERA CRUZ, May 2.—The announcement that Foreign Minister Rojas has resigned from Huerta's cabinet was taken today as confirmatory of the reports of a formidable opposition to the Mexican dictator developing in Mexico City. It is understood that Minister Rojas believes the American flag should be saluted and favors sending a commission to Washington to endeavor to settle existing differences. His insistency on these points caused Huerta to ask for his resignation tonight.

General Frederick Funston is in absolute charge here, Civil Governor Kerr and the other civil authorities retiring. Recent Charge d'Affaires to Mexico O'Shaughnessy sailed for Galveston today on the tender Yankton.

The Mexican city council last night suggested the prohibition of bull fights as a precautionary measure. The last official act of Civil Governor Kerr was the signing of such an order.

The farmers about Vera Cruz have petitioned General Funston to extend his lines to include their property on account of the continued activity of snipers, who are shooting at all the farmers who continue to sell their produce to the Americans.

FOOD PROBLEM IS NOW SERIOUS AT VERA CRUZ

The food matter is becoming serious tonight. Even the hotels are without milk, butter and fruit. Vera Cruz banks are doing practically nothing and business is at a low ebb.

The rumor is current here that Mrs. Clara Beckmeyer, a German subject, was mistaken for an American and killed in Mexico City on Monday. There is little credence of the report here.

NO ARMISTICE BETWEEN THE MEXICANS

Rebels Will Proceed With Their Campaign—Saltillo Will Be First Attack Point

WASHINGTON, May 2.—All hope for an armistice by General Carranza during the mediation proceedings appeared shattered last night by the announcement from the Argentine embassy that no word concerning the armistice has been received from the Constitutionalist leader.

The A. B. C. mediators were in conference until a late hour, but as their whole program is practically based on a cessation of armed conflict in Mexico, they have come to a stone wall.

Carranza's prompt refusal to agree to a neutral oil field zone at Tampico further indicates his intention to continue fighting despite the wishes of the mediators. His refusal followed a direct request from Secretary Bryan after both the latter and the British ambassador, Sir Spring-Rice, had appealed to the rebel commander at Tampico.

The State Department and the A. B. C. mediators have been officially informed that the Constitutionalists are marching on Tampico with artillery, and are on the verge of beginning a campaign against Huerta, from Monterey to the Mexican capital.

The first point of attack by the Constitutionalists will be Saltillo, where Huerta is massing his troops.

VIENNA, May 1.—Owing to the splendid weather conditions prevailing here the condition of Emperor Franz Joseph has been greatly improved. The announcement is made that his majesty is now sleeping well, and that his general condition is satisfactory.

Miss Martha Warne, daughter of Mrs. M. Warne, 607 East Fifth street, telegraphed last Wednesday to the effect that she was well and for her mother not to be uneasy. Miss Warne is employed as a nurse in the American hospital, Mexico City.

Louis Shrewsbury is Chief Electrician in the El Oro mine. His mother has had no word from him for about six weeks but at that time Louis wrote that conditions were in no way disquieting. He said that there was no reason to fear trouble of any kind and that his mother need not worry.

Mrs. Shrewsbury said today that since the trouble has started in Mexico mail service has been practically at a stand-still. The last letter received from her son by Mrs. Shrewsbury was brought by friends of Louis' who came here from Mexico.

Mrs. Warne's other daughter, Miss Sarah, is a missionary in Brazil.

Miss Annette McClintock, who returned Thursday from Hermosillo, said today that she experienced no hardship in getting away from Mexico, owing to the fact that she left Hermosillo later than many of the other Americans, of whom there were about 500 in Hermosillo, and was able to use the train which conveyed the American consul. The Americans who left immediately after the dispatches came from Washington ordering all Americans out of Mexico were subjected to considerable inconvenience. They were compelled to travel on freight trains, night trains, etc.

Miss McClintock said that at Hermosillo as well as in other Mexican towns the excitement among the natives is great. Hermosillo, which is the stronghold of the constitutionalists and the headquarters of General Carranza, whom Miss McClintock knows personally, was the scene, during the latter part of her stay there of a great many street parades and rejoicings, in honor of victories won by the constitutionalists.

Practically the only real fright given the Americans at Hermosillo was about a month ago, just after the constitutionalists had taken Torreon. Every steam whistle in the city started blowing one night. Guns were fired and there was a constant in-pouring of trains into the town. The residents at first thought that a battle was imminent. It soon developed, however, that the Mexicans of Hermosillo were merely celebrating their victory at Torreon.

According to Miss McClintock there are now only about three Americans left in Hermosillo. These men stayed because they anticipated no trouble.

Of the 500 Americans who resided in Hermosillo about 100 were employed at the La Colorado mine, one of the richest in Mexico. This mine is situated about 45 miles from Hermosillo.

The nearest approach to a taste of war was experienced about a year ago at the time when all Americans had been ordered out of Mexico. Mexican soldiers rode in the train in which Miss McClintock travelled. The train was fired upon and a number of soldiers and Americans were wounded.

Fortunately the inmates of the Hermosillo hospital were all able to walk when the recent orders to evacuate were issued. The patients all got safely away.

43,000 DEER AND 34 MOOSE IN MICHIGAN

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 2.—According to J. H. McGillivray, deputy state forestry warden, there are 48,000 deer in Michigan—44,000 in the upper peninsula and 4000 in the northern part of the area south of the Straits of Mackinac.

Mr. McGillivray says there are known to be thirty-four moose in the state.

Captain William R. Rush, commander of the battleship Florida, was the officer to whom Admiral Fletcher, then in command of the navy at Vera Cruz, entrusted the landing of the First American armed forces to touch Mexican soil in nearly three-quarters of a century.

REFUGEES TELL HARROWING STORIES OF INDIGNITIES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Twenty-six refugees from the Mexican west coast arrived today on the supply ship Glacier. All told harrowing stories of insults and indignities they were subjected to before their departure. Dr. L. I. Newbre, an American dentist at Mazatlan said his home was burned and that he narrowly escaped death.

250 REFUGEES AT SAN DIEGO WITHOUT MONEY

SAN DIEGO, May 2.—Two hundred and fifty-nine refugees arriving yesterday from the west Mexican coast are seeking positions here today or are departing for cities where they have relatives and friends. They are amazed that people generally are paying so little attention to the Mexican situation. They severely criticize the government for its failure in sending troops to protect Americans remaining in Mexico.

The Red Cross office is experiencing its busiest days. As a majority of the refugees left their homes hurriedly, few of them had money and practically none had extra clothes. The Red Cross volunteered to furnish transportation to those desiring to leave, while the city will make efforts to find positions for those remaining. Among those applying for transportation was J. H. Kipp, owner of the largest hardware store in western Mexico, with $300,000 worth of stock. Kipp said: "They came to my store and gave me one hour and a half to leave Guadalajara, as it meant death to stay. I did not even have time to get a few dollars together. I do not believe I will ever return."

The refugees are firm in the opinion that the seventy-five Americans not notified in time to catch the train from Guadalajara have been killed.

LINER SIBERIA IS REPORTED SAFE

Pacific Mail Ship in Manila Port—Code Error Caused Report of Loss

MANILA, May 2.—The Pacific Mail line Siberia, reported as sunk off the Formosa coast, arrived in Manila harbor at 11 a. m. today. Captain Zeeder reported he had had an uneventful voyage from Nagasaki.

Captain Zeeder expressed the belief that the reports in circulation yesterday and last night that his vessel was in distress off the coast of Formosa and had sent out calls for assistance arose over confusion in the call letters of the steamer Persia, "M. B. S." being mistaken for "S. O. S." the marine wireless request for aid.

The first report that the Siberia was in distress was a wireless message received at the Ogzakai station in Japan. It was said to come direct from the Siberia early Friday morning and said that the steamer had met with an accident and was in distress. The message was mutilated and no further information could be gleaned from it.

The message was communicated to the Great Northern steamer Minnesota and the British cruiser Minatour, and the Japanese government ordered the steamer Kanto Maru from a Formosan port and several warships to the scene of the reported wreck.

The Siberia left Yokohama April 27 and Nagasaki April 29 for Manila. She had a passenger list of seventy-one persons in the first cabin, about fifty in the second cabin and about 400 in the steerage.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TO PROBE FALSE REPORTS

TOKIO, May 2.—The Japanese government is planning for the investigation of the circulation of false reports that the American liner Siberia was sinking yesterday. It has recalled the warships searching for the wreck. The government officials' statement is to the effect that the wireless operator mistood the Siberia's signal, "M.B.S.," to the liner Persia for "S.O.S." An official statement will follow the probe. The Siberia arrived at Manila last night without incident.

PACKING OF ORANGES DELAYED BY SHOWERS

RIVERSIDE, May 2—Rainy weather of the past several days has greatly reduced picking and packing of oranges throughout the entire Riverside district, in which there still remains much excellent fruit. Shipments for the past week from the various houses of this section were 114 cars oranges and one car of lemons. The season's total is 2352 cars, with 23 cars of lemons. Continued rains have rendered the ground in orchards entirely too soft for wagons and trucks to operate without seriously cutting up the land, and it will require fully two days of wholesome sunshine to remedy this condition.

FUNSTON NOW IN CONTROL VERA CRUZ

Civil Government Resigns from Brief Term in Mexican Port

SNIPERS MENACE FARMERS WHO SELL TO AMERICANS

Protection Asked—Food Question Growing to Be Serious; Supplies Are Low

(By Bernard Rucker)

VERA CRUZ, May 2.—The announcement that Foreign Minister Rojas has resigned from Huerta's cabinet was taken today as confirmatory of the reports of a formidable opposition to the Mexican dictator developing in Mexico City. It is understood that Minister Rojas believes the American flag should be saluted and favors sending a commission to Washington to endeavor to settle existing differences. His insistency on these points caused Huerta to ask for his resignation tonight.

General Frederick Funston is in absolute charge here. Civil Governor Kerr and the other civil authorities retiring. Recent Charge d'Affaires to Mexico O'Shaughnessy sailed for Galveston today on the tender Yankton.

The Mexican city council last night suggested the prohibition of bull fights as a precautionary measure. The last official act of Civil Governor Kerr was the signing of such an order.

The farmers about Vera Cruz have petitioned General Funston to extend his lines to include their property on account of the continued activity of snipers, who are shooting at all the farmers who continue to sell their produce to the Americans.

FOOD PROBLEM IS NOW SERIOUS AT VERA CRUZ

The food matter is becoming serious tonight. Even the hotels are without milk, butter and fruit. Vera Cruz banks are doing practically nothing and business is at a low ebb.

The rumor is current here that Mrs. Clara Beckmeyer, a German subject, was mistaken for an American and killed in Mexico City on Monday. There is little credence of the report here.

NO ARMISTICE BETWEEN THE MEXICANS

Rebels Will Proceed With Their Campaign—Saltillo Will Be First Attack Point

WASHINGTON, May 2.—All hope for an armistice by General Carranza during the mediation proceedings appeared shattered last night by the announcement from the Argentine embassy that no word concerning the armistice has been received from the Constitutionalist leader.

The A. B. C. mediators were in conference until a late hour, but as their whole program is practically based on a cessation of armed conflict in Mexico, they have come to a stone wall.

Carranza's prompt refusal to agree to a neutral oil field zone at Tampico further indicates his intention to continue fighting despite the wishes of the mediators. His refusal followed a direct request from Secretary Bryan after both the latter and the British ambassador, Sir Spring-Rice, had appealed to the rebel commander at Tampico.

The State Department and the A. B. C. mediators have been officially informed that the Constitutionalists are marching on Tampico with artillery, and are on the verge of beginning a campaign against Huerta, from Monterey to the Mexican capital.

The first point of attack by the Constitutionalists will be Saltillo, where Huerta is massing his troops.

MONEY IN LAND PROVEN THIS CASE

Advances in Values Are Shown by Sales in La Habra

FULLERTON, May 2.—Five years ago D. V. Bangle bought ten acres, known as the Parker place, in La Habra Valley, paying $550 an acre, and improving it with a handsome six-room bungalow, a good barn, and setting the property to lemons. Later he purchased the adjoining five acres from F. Hersey for $2,600 and improved that tract with lemon and Valencia orange trees. Two years later Mr. Bangle sold the fifteen acres for $13,000, believing he had made a good profit on his investment.

A few months later the new owner, Mr. Stanfield of East Whittier, sold the place to a Mr. Knip of Iowa for $17,000. Mr. Knip held the ranch for two years, and sold it to Mrs. Wheatland of Whittier for $27,000. Mrs. Wheatland has just sold the property to a Mr. Peters from New York for $40,000, and it is now believed he is getting his money's worth on the deal.

CLEVELAND, OHIO WILL SELL "JUICE"

Begins Furnishing of Citizens With Electricity at 3c per Kilowatt Hour

CLEVELAND, May 1.—The city of Cleveland—home of three-cent street car fares, and other progressive municipal advantages—today began furnishing its "customers," residents of Cleveland, with electricity at three cents the kilowatt hour. The regular price charged by corporations is ten cents. At the start 40,000 "customers" can be supplied. Two big municipal electric-making plants turned their wheels today for the first time. Backers of the project are confident it will mean private corporations must be forced down to the same price.

The making of electricity for sale to its residents is no new thing to Progressive Cleveland. For several years enough electricity has been made to supply 4,000 people. Eventually, city officials declared today, Cleveland will furnish electricity for every home in the city unless private corporations come down to Cleveland's three cent charge.

FREE JOY RIDES IN BORROWED RIGS

A single buggy belonging to John Axte was borrowed without permission yesterday afternoon from the corner of Third and Bush streets and used for a somewhat extensive and free joy-ride before it was returned. This is the third time in as many days that rigs have been taken. Invariably the horses are given a hard run and when unable to do much more speeding the equines are brought back to town at night and tied.

Night before last a rig was taken and when brought back was hitched to a rack back of Clune's theater. Last night Officer Ryan was watching both the hitching rack back of the theater and the corner from which Axte's rig had been taken. While Ryan was watching the back of Clune's the rig was returned to the corner of Third and Bush. This was at about 8 o'clock.

The officers have some good clues as to who the offenders are.

Later he purchased the adjoining five acres from F. Hersey for $2,600 and improved that tract with lemon and Valencia orange trees. Two years later Mr. Bangle sold the fifteen acres for $13,000, believing he had made a good profit on his investment.

A few months later the new owner, Mr. Stanfield of East Whittier, sold the place to a Mr. Knip of Iowa for $17,000. Mr. Knip held the ranch for two years, and sold it to Mrs. Wheatland of Whittier for $27,000. Mrs. Wheatland has just sold the property to a Mr. Peters from New York for $40,000, and it is now believed he is getting his money's worth on the deal.

CLEVELAND, OHIO WILL SELL "JUICE"

Begins Furnishing of Citizens With Electricity at 3c per Kilowatt Hour

CLEVELAND, May 1.—The city of Cleveland—home of three-cent street car fares, and other progressive municipal advantages—today began furnishing its "customers," residents of Cleveland, with electricity at three cents the kilowatt hour. The regular price charged by corporations is ten cents. At the start 40,000 "customers" can be supplied. Two big municipal electric-making plants turned their wheels today for the first time. Backers of the project are confident it will mean private corporations must be forced down to the same price.

The making of electricity for sale to its residents is no new thing to Progressive Cleveland. For several years enough electricity has been made to supply 4,000 people. Eventually, city officials declared today, Cleveland will furnish electricity for every home in the city unless private corporations come down to Cleveland's three cent charge.

FREE JOY RIDES IN BORROWED RIGS

A single buggy belonging to John Axte was borrowed without permission yesterday afternoon from the corner of Third and Bush streets and used for a somewhat extensive and free joy-ride before it was returned. This is the third time in as many days that rigs have been taken. Invariably the horses are given a hard run and when unable to do much more speeding the equines are brought back to town at night and tied.

Night before last a rig was taken and when brought back was hitched to a rack back of Clune's theater. Last night Officer Ryan was watching both the hitching rack back of the theater and the corner from which Axte's rig had been taken. While Ryan was watching the back of Clune's the rig was returned to the corner of Third and Bush. This was at about 8 o'clock.

The officers have some good clues as to who the offenders are.

SHOWED JAPS HOW TO DRILL

Two Fullerton Men Spent Two Years in Nipponese Oil Fields

Fullerton Tribune: L. C. Evans and H. T. Adams, oil well men of many years' experience, nave just returned from Japan, where they have been employed by the Nippon Oil Company during the past two years to teach the Japanese how to drill oil wells.

They report that there are about two hundred oil wells in Japan. The Nippon Oil Company is the largest concern that is operating in Japan and it has a daily output of about 3,000 barrels.

The Hoden Oil Company also has a daily output of about 2,500 barrels. All of the oil produced in Japan is of from 15 to 55 gravity, which is, on an average, a higher gravity than the oil produced in California.

The oil fields of Japan are not confined to any one section of the country as oil is now being found in many parts of Japan. All of the oil produced in that country is refined there. The wells are from 800 to 4,000 feet deep, and some of them flow when first brought in, but the daily average output of the best wells is not more than about 250 barrels.

It is stated that a well can be drilled to a depth of 4,000 feet in Japan for about $20,000, which is much less than the cost of the average well in California.

Mr. Evans reports that practically all of the casing and all supplies used in Japan are shipped from Los Angeles to that country.

Mr. Evans and Mr. Adams have been receiving salaries of $250 per month and all expenses while employed in Japan.

They report that there are still left in Japan fourteen men who were formerly employed in the California oil fields.

It is said the Japanese are quick to learn this work, and that the foreigners are paid from 20 to 25 cents a day in American money.

In moving the machinery out to the oil fields and in doing other heavy work the women of Japan work right along by the side of the men and receive about the same wages paid the men.

For several years the Japs used the old style water drills in trying to bore for oil, but did not make much headway.

At the present time California rotary drills are used in practically all of the Japanese fields. It is said that the Standard Oil Company for some time tried to operate in those fields but did not make much headway, as the Japs refused to buy its oil. It is also reported that the Standard company sold all of its interests some time ago to the Nippon Oil Company.

Messrs. Evans and Adams left the Fullerton fields two years ago, going to Japan under a contract for a period of one year, but at the expiration of the year the Nippon Oil Company employed them for another year at the same salary.

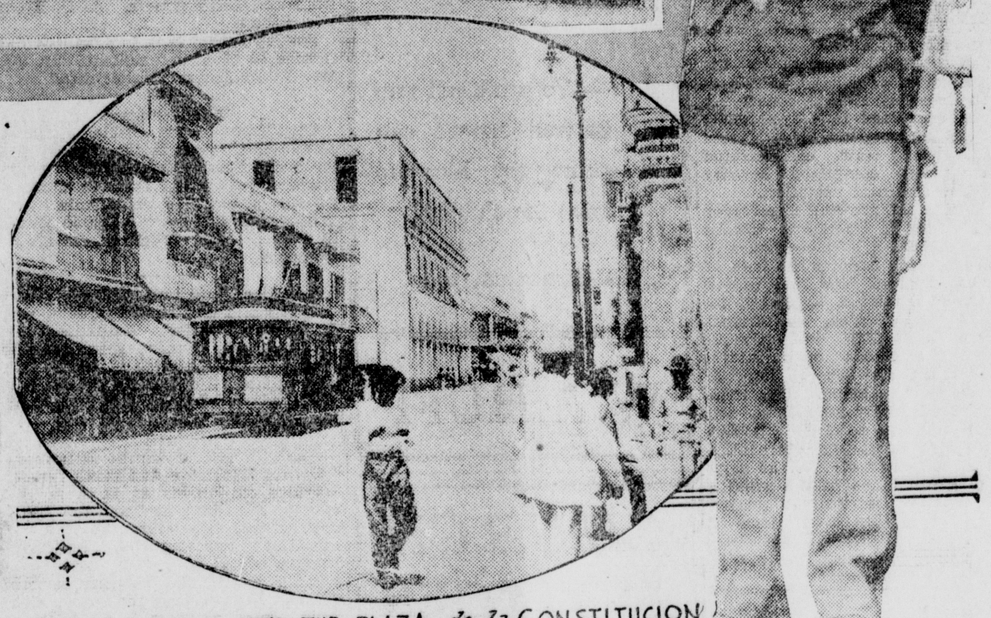

It is said the average price paid for the crude oil in Japan is equivalent to $7 a barrel American money. Mr. Evans says there is no healthier country on earth than Japan. He gained 40 pounds while at work over there. He reports the rainfall at from 80 to 90 inches a year and says there are no flies or pests of any kind where he worked.

He also reports that the Japs seem to have no hatred for Americans and that they are always willing to do anything at any time for the Californians engaged in work there. It is stated that the Japs in the oil fields are all honest, that there is no stealing, and Mr. Evans reports that no one was arrested on any such charge while he was in that country.

SMEDLEY BUTLER
HEAD OF MARINES at VERA CRUZ

The marines and guns of the old transport Prairie opened the recent engagement at Vera Cruz. Under Captain W. R. Rush of the Battleship Florida, marines of the transport were the first to touch Mexican soil. Later the marines of other warships in Vera Cruz harbor reached the shore and joined in the engagement through the streets of Vera Cruz with the Prairie men.

Major Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps, who was in immediate command of the marines, is a well-known young officer, the son of Representative Thomas S. Butler. He was decorated with a medal for bravery in the attack of the allies on Pekin, in the Boxer troubles, just after he entered the service. He had recently come from the Panama Canal zone, where he commanded the marines now with him at Vera Cruz. Secretary of War Garrison said these marines were the finest soldiers he had ever seen.

UNIVERSITY INVITES ALL TO LEARN ABOUT FARMING

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, May 2.—"A Summer School of Farming"—that's the new departure planned as an important part of the next summer session of the University of California, at Berkeley from June 22 to August 1. Farmers, present and prospective, agricultural teachers, horticultural inspectors, university students of agriculture—for all these are the courses planned.

Do you own a fruit orchard and want weapons for fighting your insect pests? Then Professor Woodworth's course in "Economic Entomology" will give arms against the winged and crawling enemies, and Professor Lipman's course on "Soils and Fertilizers" will show how to maintain the fertility of soil, and inculcate good principles for tillage and for the proper supply of air, water, heat, and food for the plant.

Do you want to leave the city and go to raising fruit? Then Mr. Taylor's course in "Horticulture" will show what the common nursery operations are, and tell about cultivation, irrigation, priming, spraying, and the rejuvenating of run-down orchards, the selection of a location, and the special practices for particular fruits.

Or if it's chickens you want to raise, then Professor Dougherty's course on "Poultry Husbandry" will tell of how to feed chicks or laying hens; of the selection, laying-out, and equipping of a poultry farm; of incubating and brooding, of the principles of breeding, for layers or for meat fowls; of caponizing, of killing and picking, of poultry diseases and parasites, and of the general care and management of a poultry ranch. Poultry plants and markets will be visited, and the methods of successful farmers observed.

Or one may learn something about what kind of a horse not to buy, and the outward signs that hold out hope that a cow will be a good milker and the mother of good milkers; and meat animals will be studied, alive and on the butcher's block—all this with Professor True.

How to run a first-class dairy or creamery, lcean, sanitary, and profitable, may be studied with Professor Davis; and how to grow wheat, oats, rice, etc., with Mr. Hendry; and the diseases of California crops with Professor Smith and Professor Horne, and preventive medicine and curative surgery for farm animals with Professors Haring, Roadhouse, and Mitchell, and plant propagation and landscape gardening for school or home or town with Professor Gregg and Professor Stevens, and agriculture for the schools, lower or high, with Professor Kern and Professor Hummel.

That agriculture ought to be taught in the schools has long been actively urged by the university, and with great effect, for today sixty-one California high schools have agricultural courses—and five years ago only Oxnard and Imperial county. The elements of agriculture are taught now in some seven hundred California grammar schools. But the supply of competent teachers of agriculture is only a small fraction of the demand. These summer session courses at the university will give opportunity to the teachers of agricultural subjects to increase their knowledge.

Horticultural inspectors are another group who will profit by these summer agricultural courses, through the opportunity of doing advanced work in entomology, plant pathology, and horticulture.

A group of club women are to come to Berkeley for the fifth week of the summer session for the lectures and inspection tours in the Veterinary Science course concerning inspection of dairies and markets, meat and milk, in order that they may better help their respective communities in regulation and pure food work.

Short courses in agriculture such as these are given by the University of California every fall at the university farm at Davis. But these summer agricultural courses at Berkeley have many novel aspects. Not only can sound practical farming information be had in a wide variety of actual farm problems, but also teachers of agriculture, school officials, and people interested in country life advancement can get much suggestion and inspiration. And moreover, since attendance on these summer courses in agriculture throws open all the other summer session opportunities, the farmer or teacher or country clergyman or horticultural commissioner who comes to Berkeley for a summer vacation and spends most of each day studying about soil improvement, seed selection, and diseases of plants and animals, can nevertheless put in his odd hours reading among the 300,000 volumes in the university library, hearing a concert in the Greek theater, swimming in the great open-air swimming pool, having a lesson in Spanish or cookery, economics, commercial law, or the history of art, or hearing some lectures on "Corporation Problems" by Professor John H. Gray of the University of Minnesota or on literature by Professor Irving Babbitt of Harvard or on "Heredity and Social Hygiene" by Professor Vernor L. Kellogg of Stanford and Dr. William F. Snow of New York, secretary of the American Social Hygiene Society, or on "The Spirit of the Community" by Professor Josiah Royce of Harvard, one of the most distinguished of American philosophers, who is coming back to his alma mater to give six summer lectures in this most modern of university atmospheres, where men and women have discovered that study of plant progagation or hog cholera prevention goes along perfectly well with study of English poetry or contemporary philosophy.

House Burglarized

Anaheim Herald: Another robbery took place last night at the home of J. S. Redmond on West Adele street. The Redmonds were at a moving picture show downtown and returned about ten o'clock to find that some one had entered their home during their absence. The intruder was apparently out on a foraging trip, similar to the pilfering done at the Donahoe home Wednesday evening as his main haul was in the line of eatables. He cleared up about all there was in the line of food and also took a suit of clothes, a suit case and some jewelry.

Entrance was forced through a rear door. The night watchmen were informed at once by Mr. Redmond, but up to the present time no clue has been found of the miscreants.

SHOWED JAPS HOW TO DRILL

Two Fullerton Men Spent Two Years in Nipponese Oil Fields

Fullerton Tribune: L. C. Evans and H. T. Adams, oil well men of many years' experience, have just returned from Japan, where they have been employed by the Nippon Oil Company during the past two years to teach the Japanese how to drill oil wells.

They report that there are about two hundred oil wells in Japan. The Nippon Oil Company is the largest concern that is operating in Japan and it has a daily output of about 3,000 barrels.

The Hoden Oil Company also has a daily output of about 2,500 barrels. All of the oil produced in Japan is of from 15 to 55 gravity, which is, on an average, a higher gravity than the oil produced in California.

The oil fields of Japan are not confined to any one section of the country as oil is now being found in many parts of Japan. All of the oil produced in that country is refined there. The wells are from 800 to 4,000 feet deep, and some of them flow when first brought in, but the daily average output of the best wells is not more than about 250 barrels.

It is stated that a well can be drilled to a depth of 4,000 feet in Japan for about $20,000, which is much less than the cost of the average well in California.

Mr. Evans reports that practically all of the casing and all supplies used in Japan are shipped from Los Angeles to that country.

Mr. Evans and Mr. Adams have been receiving salaries of $250 per month and all expenses while employed in Japan.

They report that there are still left in Japan fourteen men who were formerly employed in the California oil fields.

It is said the Japanese are quick to learn this work, and that the foreigners are paid from 20 to 25 cents a day in American money.

In moving the machinery out to the oil fields and in doing other heavy work the women of Japan work right along by the side of the men and receive about the same wages paid the men.

For several years the Japs used the old style water drills in trying to bore for oil, but did not make much headway.

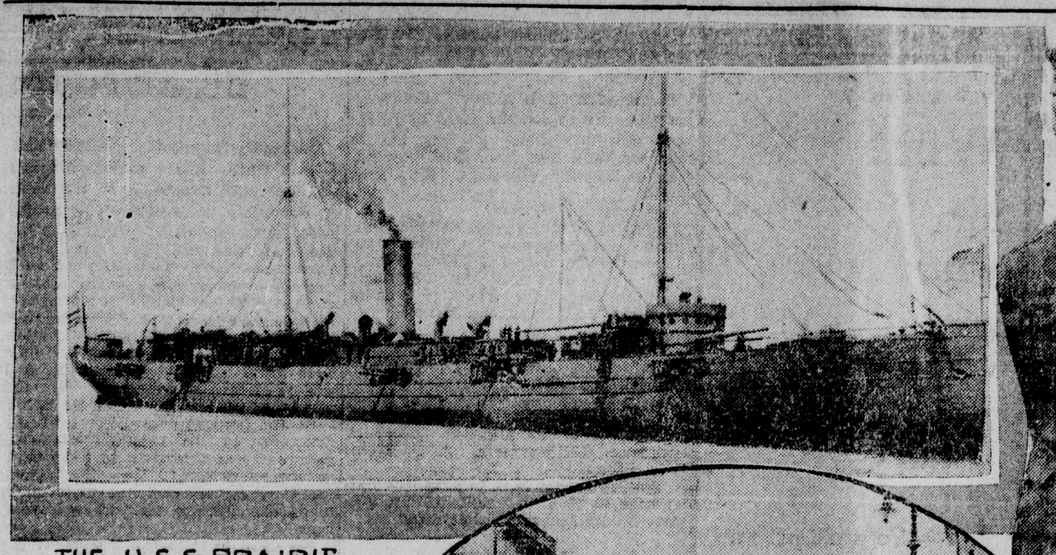

At the present time California rotary drills are used in practically all of the Japanese fields. It is said that the Standard Oil Company for some time tried to operate in those fields but did not make much headway, as the Japs refused to buy its oil. It is also reported that the Standard company sold all of its interests some time ago to the Nippon Oil Company.

Messrs. Evans and Adams left the Fullerton fields two years ago, going to Japan under a contract for a period of one year, but at the expiration of the year the Nippon Oil Company employed them for another year at the same salary.

It is said the average price paid for the crude oil in Japan is equivalent to $7 a barrel American money. Mr. Evans says there is no healthier country on earth than Japan. He gained 40 pounds while at work over there. He reports the rainfall at from 80 to 90 inches a year and says there are no flies or pests of any kind where he worked.

He also reports that the Japs seem to have no hatred for Americans and that they are always willing to do anything at any time for the Californians engaged in work there. It is stated that the Japs in the oil fields are all honest, that there is no stealing, and Mr. Evans reports that no one was arrested on any such charge while he was in that country.

TRANSPORT THAT OPENED MEXICAN WAR, AND COMMANDER OF INVADING AMERICAN MARINES

THE U.S.S. PRAIRIE.

STREET LEADING INTO THE PLAZA de la CONSTITUCION

SMEDLEY BUTLER
HEAD OF MARINES AT VERA CRUZ

The marines and guns of the old transport Prairie opened the recent engagement at Vera Cruz. Under Captain W. R. Rush of the Battleship Florida, marines of the transport were the first to touch Mexican soil. Later the marines of other warships in Vera Cruz harbor reached the shore and joined in the engagement through the streets of Vera Cruz with the Prairie men.

Major Smedley Butler of the Marine Corps, who was in immediate command of the marines, is a well-known young officer, the son of Representative Thomas S. Butler. He was decorated with a medal for bravery in the attack of the allies on Pekin, in the Boxer troubles, just after he entered the service. He had recently come from the Panama Canal zone, where he commanded the marines now with him at Vera Cruz. Secretary of War Garrison said these marines were the finest soldiers he had ever seen.

UNIVERSITY INVITES ALL TO LEARN ABOUT FARMING

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, May 2.—"A Summer School of Farming"—that's the new departure planned as an important part of the next summer session of the University of California, at Berkeley from June 22 to August 1. Farmers, present and prospective, agricultural teachers, horticultural inspectors, university students of agriculture—for all these are the courses planned.

Do you own a fruit orchard and want weapons for fighting your insect pests? Then Professor Woodworth's course in "Economic Entomology" will give arms against the winged and crawling enemies, and Professor Lipman's course on "Soils and Fertilizers" will show how to maintain the fertility of soil, and inculcate good principles for tillage and for the proper supply of air, water, heat, and food for the plant.

Do you want to leave the city and go to raising fruit? Then Mr. Taylor's course in "Horticulture" will show what the common nursery operations are, and tell about cultivation, irrigation, priming, spraying, and the rejuvenating of run-down orchards, the selection of a location, and the special practices for particular fruits.

Or if it's chickens you want to raise, then Professor Dougherty's course on "Poultry Husbandry" will tell of how to feed chicks or laying hens; of the selection, laying-out, and equipping of a poultry farm; of incubating and brooding, of the principles of breeding, for layers or for meat fowls; of caponizing, of killing and picking, of poultry diseases and parasites, and of the general care and management of a poultry ranch. Poultry plants and markets will be visited, and the methods of successful farmers observed.

Or one may learn something about what kind of a horse not to buy, and the outward signs that hold out hope that a cow will be a good milker and the mother of good milkers; and meat animals will be studied, alive and on the butcher's block—all this with Professor True.

How to run a first-class dairy or creamery, lcean, sanitary, and profitable, may be studied with Professor Davis; and how to grow wheat, oats, rice, etc., with Mr. Hendry; and the diseases of California crops with Professor Smith and Professor Horne, and preventive medicine and curative surgery for farm animals with Professors Haring, Roadhouse, and Mitchell, and plant propagation and landscape gardening for school or home or town with Professor Gregg and Professor Stevens, and agriculture for the schools, lower or high, with Professor Kern and Professor Hummel.

What agriculture ought to be taught in the schools has long been actively urged by the university, and with great effect, for today sixty-one California high schools have agricultural courses—and five years ago only Oxnard and Imperial county. The elements of agriculture are taught now in some seven hundred California grammar schools. But the supply of competent teachers of agriculture is only a small fraction of the demand. These summer session courses at the university will give opportunity to the teachers of agricultural subjects to increase their knowledge.

Horticultural inspectors are another group who will profit by these summer agricultural courses, through the opportunity of doing advanced work in entomology, plant pathology, and horticulture.

A group of club women are to come to Berkeley for the fifth week of the summer session for the lectures and inspection tours in the Veterinary Science course concerning inspection of dairies and markets, meat and milk, in order that they may better help their respective communities in regulation and pure food work.

Short courses in agriculture such as these are given by the University of California every fall at the university farm at Davis. But these summer agricultural courses at Berkeley have many novel aspects. Not only can sound practical farming information be had in a wide variety of actual farm problems, but also teachers of agriculture, school officials, and people interested in country life advancement can get much suggestion and inspiration. And moreover, since attendance on these summer courses in agriculture throws open all the other summer session opportunities, the farmer or teacher or country clergyman or horticultural commissioner who comes to Berkeley for a summer vacation and spends most of each day studying about soil improvement, seed selection, and diseases of plants and animals, can nevertheless put in his odd hours reading among the 300,000 volumes in the university library, hearing a concert in the Greek theater, swimming in the great open-air swimming pool, having a lesson in Spanish or cookery, economics, commercial law, or the history of art, or hearing some lectures on "Corporation Problems" by Professor John H. Gray of the University of Minnesota or on literature by Professor Irving Babbitt of Harvard or on "Heredity and Social Hygiene" by Professor Vernor L. Kellogg of Stanford and Dr. William F. Snow of New York, secretary of the American Social Hygiene Society, or on "The Spirit of the Community" by Professor Josiah Royce of Harvard, one of the most distinguished of American philosophers, who is coming back to his alma mater to give six summer lectures in this most modern of university atmospheres, where men and women have discovered that study of plant progagation or hog cholera prevention goes along perfectly well with study of English poetry or contemporary philosophy.

FADED IN THE LIGHT

The opposition to Governor Johnson sought to concentrate its attack on the workmen's compensation act. It was a fortunate move, because it directed public attention squarely to one concrete issue. And already, before the actual political campaign has started, that issue has evaporated. The "safety conference" at San Francisco at which representatives of labor and of capital, including on the capitalist side representatives of the United Railroads, the Southern Pacific and the Union Iron Works, all openly commended the law, marked the final vanishing of all opposition. By unanimous consent, the workmen's compensation act has vindicated itself, and the attack on it only hastened the universal acknowledgment of that vindication.

The next attack was on the "extravagance" of the administration, and its alleged "commissions," but that too, while it has not yet ceased, has already become vague and unspecific. No one has yet answered the Governor's challenge to name which commission he would, if he could, abandon or curtail. No one has disproved the showing of unprecedented economy and radically improved business methods, nor has been able to specify wherein the alleged extravagance consisted. Another two weeks will see the attack on "extravagance" and "commissions" as forgotten as the attack on the workmen's compensation act already has become.

There have been sporadic attempts to make the automobile law and the state highway the bugaboos, but the prompt sustaining of the automobile law by the Supreme Court and the universal rush to comply with its provisions will soon put that into the lingo of things forgotten. The action of the supervisors' meeting, guaranteeing the prompt financing of the rest of the highway south of San Francisco demonstrates how popular the state highway is. And the few specific criticisms made only served as opportunity to show their groundlessness.

These are the specific oppositions, so far, in the stages of fizzle. And every other serious opposition will meet the same fate. Unless all signs fail, the opposition will soon cease to be either serious or specific, and will confine itself to a petty, carping, pin-pricking campaign of minor criticisms—somebody's friend did not get the job he wanted on the San Francisco water front, or somebody's pet bill didn't get signed and he doesn't know why; somebody or somebody's friend fancies that he was personally or politically slighted—these and the like will be the burden of complaint. Against such principles there is no way of direct fighting. But, also, there is no danger of serious harm from them.—C. H. R. in California Outlook.

THE DIVORCE INCREASE

Hon. Joseph E. Randall, United States Senator from Louisiana, has introduced a bill into the senate proposing submission to the several states of an amendment to the constitution of the United States, prohibiting divorce for any cause whatever. A part of the suggested amendment reads as follows: "Absolute divorce with the right to re-marry shall not be permitted in the United States or in any place within its jurisdiction."

Though there is a widespread demand for uniform divorce laws within the United States, the proposition to abolish all divorces and the right to remarry will be regarded as unscriptural by many, unrighteous by others, and unnecessary in the premises by still a greater number of those who condemn divorce as it stands today.

Senator Randall, in supporting his bill, gave the following startling statistics showing how rapidly the divorce evil is spreading: The total number of divorces granted in 1867 was 9937, or twenty-seven per 100,000 population. In 1906 there were 72,062 divorces, or eighty-six per 100,000 population. Allowing for the increased population, divorce increased 319 per cent in forty years.

To put it in another way, in 1867 there was one divorce for every 3666 people, while in 1906 there was one divorce for every 1162 people. If divorces multiply at the same rate in the future as during the forty years between 1867 and 1906, and there is every indication that they will increase faster, before 1950 we shall have in the United States one divorce for every five marriages. In 1887 there was one divorce for every seventeen marriages, in 1906 there was one divorce for every twelve marriages. At the same rate in 1946 there will be one divorce for every five marriages.

DOES IT PAY?

Billie Sunday says: "I was reading the other day of the passing of 'Rube' Waddell—only 37 and gone. He was one of the brightest and brainiest men in baseball, but he couldn't beat the booze game. The 'Rube,' Matty, Plank and 'Bugs' Raymond started in baseball at the same time. All were pitchers. Two started on the wrong road and two on the right road. Two are dead, 'Bugs' and 'Rube.' Matty is as good as ever, the king in his line, and when he gets so he can't put anything on the ball he'll go to work training young pitchers at a dazzling salary. Plank, grand old man, is getting along, but he can pitch a great game. He and Matty are honored by men in every walk of life because they followed the right path. 'Rube' and 'Bugs' are dead. Does it pay?"

A MAN FOR A JOB

Orange News: The county board of forestry which is to have charge of the planting of the state and county highways of this county with suitable trees has an important though a pleasant task to perform. We are glad that this board is composed of men with an enthusiasm for such work—men who will bring to their labors a sincere desire to add a great deal to the beauty of their county; men to whom their work will mean more than the mere doing of the duties of the office. These are the kind of men who will do the thing best, because they are for Orange county. Good evidence of their attitude is that they serve without compensation.

One of the duties of this board is to appoint a county forester, who will receive $125 per month. Of course, ability to perform the duties of the office is the first consideration; but, that being equal, the position ought by all means to go to an Orange county man in preference to an outsider who has, perhaps, still to be touched by the spirit of service for his county.

This preference for local men is probably well grounded, for the public naturally has more confidence in a man whom they have known and do not have to take on another's recommendation. Perhaps this point was best illustrated in the troubles of the late highway engineer, who encountered no end of criticism on the ground that he was an "outsider." It is perfectly true that the public does feel more kindly toward a man who is "one of us" in such positions. Local pride holds it unnecessary to go outside for material.

WANTS IT FOR LESS

Fullerton Tribune: The cities of Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana should take immediate steps to purchase natural gas in Orange county at a lower rate than is now paid.

There is no reason why Orange county cities, with an abundant supply of natural gas right at our doors, should pay the present prices for natural gas when many eastern cities are buying it at as low a rate as 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

There is enough gas going to waste every day in the Fullerton fields to supply twenty cities the size of the largest city in Orange county.

We have the names of some eastern cities that are getting gas at 20 cents, notwithstanding that the natural gas has to be piped a distance of at least 250 miles to some of those cities.

The leading cities of Orange county could all be connected up by one main pipe line.

If natural gas can be furnished at a profit (and no doubt it is) by private individuals in this county, why should not the cities reap the benefit of that profit?

Every city of importance in Orange county today should be burning natural gas at reasonable prices; and we would like to see the newspapers in the various cities get behind this proposition and push it to the front.

THE LIME

By Reginal Brinsmead, Register Staff Writer

The lime is one citrus fruit which has no commercial significance in California, although, indirectly, as a competitor in more than one way with the lemon, any great increase in its consumption and use is of importance to the lemon grower of this state.

The lime is an important crop in most of the West Indian Islands, the Barbadoes, Jamaica, British Guiana, etc., while the United States draws the bulk of its supplies of limes and lime products from Dominica, which is one of the most important points of production. These imports from Dominica into this country have increased from less than $100,000 to nearly $300,000 worth in 1909 and 1913, respectively.

The crop of limes in the island of Dominica, calculated in barrels of fruit was 277,000 in 1908; 284,000 in 1909; 369,000 in 1910; 355,000 in 1911, and 370,000 in 1912. A steady increase in planting takes place each year, and in the past six years the government nurseries have sold 326,000 lime trees to planters, while large quantities have also been raised in private nurseries. The industry is here a flourishing one and steady increase in exports is looked for.

During 1912 and 1913, when the retail price of lemons both in America and Europe ruled high, a large increase in the quantity of green limes exported to this country and England developed, where they were largely used for making summer drinks and beverages; this country taking green limes valued at $53,500 in 1912 and $147,400 in 1913, against importations of but $13,200 and $15,300 in 1909 and 1910, respectively, from Dominica. These fresh or green limes are becoming increasingly popular for these uses.

The lime in Dominica is exported in a number of forms, both raw and as by-products; and the total valuation exported from the island in 1912 amounted to nearly half a million dollars, consisting of the following: Lime juice, raw, 24 1-3c per gallon; lime juice, concentrated, $1.33 per gallon; citrate of lime, 13 1-3c per pound; essential oil of lime, $2.12 per gallon; expressed oil (attar) of limes, $13.50 per pound; raw limes, $1.98 per barrel.

Small quantities of raw lime juice cordial and of pickled limes were also shipped from the island.

Lime juice, made from the citrus medica, var. acida, has long been a valued drink, and one of the old timers, carried for use on all long voyages. That it is a healthy one goes without saying.

It is of interest to note that of the total production of 370,000 barrels of limes in Dominica in 1912, ninety per cent was converted into by-products and of the total exports for the same year lime juice (raw, concentrated and as cordial) comprised seventy per cent of the total valuation.

As showing the growing importance of the industry in Dominica, toward the close of 1912 a business house in New York, which handles the bulk of the limes imported into the United States from Dominica, appointed its own agent in Dominica, to inspect consignments of fruit in order to prevent the shipment of immature, juiceless limes, and also to improve the methods of packing. The innovation proved highly successful, and promises to prove a very considerable factor in increasing future shipments; as a matter of fact the shipments of green limes from Dominica to this country practically increased 300 per cent in 1913 over those of 1912, and without question this method of handling had much to do with the increased shipments.

Orange, Cal., April 30.

Editor Register: I notice in your last night's edition that a request had been made for a county library or for some means whereby those living in out-lying districts could receive books from some source. I have not lived in California long but have wondered why this state, so advanced in most matters, seemed to have so little activity along rural library lines.

The traveling library has long served, not only the rural districts, but the smaller towns as well, in Wisconsin. It began with the State library at Madison, sending out books to responsible bodies in the smaller towns, who needed them for reference. Later, all owns of any size possessing a public library, sent out to its rural centers a box of from two to four dozen books, carefully packed and listed for distribution among responsible persons, some person in the community volunteering to act as distributing agent.

Now, though I am not sure this is done in Wisconsin, regular library wagons, fitted out, go through the district, different routes for different days just lik a meat or fish wagon, stopping at houses where books are desired and letting people select their own books.

Why cannot we have a similar arrangement, perhaps not the library on wheels but the box of books sent to a district for two weeks and exchanged at the end of that time?

The plan has worked for years in Wisconsin and I am sure if one were to write to its State Library Board, literature could be gotten on the subject.

Let us push it along, Mr. Editor, and see if Orange county can't have books in every community.

Yours truly,
MRS. W. N. CUMMINGS.

CONTROLLER CHAMBERS MAY BE RETURNED UNANIMOUSLY

Oakland Enquirer: Non-partisanship in state politics already has had an important beginning in the office of the state controller. The people have been singularly fortunate in choosing men for that post, who have been well fitted and of such character as to win general esteem. First, Controller Colgan was re-elected to the office as a candidate of both Republican and Democratic parties. Following, came A. B. Nye, who likewise broke partisan opposition, and was re-elected unanimously by the people of California. John S. Chambers, the present controller, a worthy successor of his splendid predecessor, seems at this time to have gained the same regard from the people, for thus far no one has undertaken to oppose him for election in November.

No man, ever in the history of the state, gave more valuable service than did the lamented A. B. Nye. In the selection of a successor, upon the death of Mr. Nye, Governor Johnson found in Controller Chambers a personality that seems to be a duplicate of the former controller. Chambers, like Nye, followed newspaper work for many years and was called from the editorial chair into public service. He has the same indefatigable industry; the same intense earnestness; the same gentle character; the same unswerving honesty; the same resolute, broad ability and the same spirit of devotion to duty and to friends, as marked the career of the late controller.

Controller Chambers has already made a record for himself at Sacramento. As managing editor of the Sacramento Bee for several years, he had learned how to grasp big things and to act quickly and surely. The office of the controller has big fiscal responsibilities in its keeping and Mr. Chambers, a few days after he had taken charge, was familiar with every detail and ready to cope with every question that came up.

If the people of California elect Chambers unanimously to succeed himself, they will have reason for self-congratulation. It will be testimony that the people know a good man when they see him. A highly efficient and trust-worthy public official like him is a valuable asset to the state. No opposition has developed to him thus far and it does not look as if anyone will try to contest the place with him.

The auditors in state convention, consisting of members of all parties, have endorsed Chambers and Republicans and Democrats throughout the state are frankly giving him their support. The controller's old-time newspaper friends reach into every corner of the state. In the way of newspaper support, no candidate has ever had such wide and pronounced advocacy. All newspaper men know John Chambers and he holds their affections in generous degree. He organized and for several years conducted the Superior California News department of the Sacramento Bee and then served as managing editor. Regardless of politics, the state of California should return Chambers to the office of controller, for his worth and integrity give assurance of a wide and successful administration.

FADED IN THE LIGHT

The opposition to Governor Johnson sought to concentrate its attack on the workmen's compensation act. It was a fortunate move, because it directed public attention squarely to one concrete issue. And already, before the actual political campaign has started, that issue has evaporated. The "safety conference" at San Francisco at which representatives of labor and of capital, including on the capitalist side representatives of the United Railroads, the Southern Pacific and the Union Iron Works, all openly commended the law, marked the final vanishing of all opposition. By unanimous consent, the workmen's compensation act has vindicated itself, and the attack on it only hastened the universal acknowledgment of that vindication.

The next attack was on the "extravagance" of the administration, and its alleged "commissions," but that too, while it has not yet ceased, has already become vague and unspecific. No one has yet answered the Governor's challenge to name which commission he would, if he could, abandon or curtail. No one has disproved the showing of unprecedented economy and radically improved business methods, nor has been able to specify wherein the alleged extravagance consisted. Another two weeks will see the attack on "extravagance" and "commissions" as forgotten as the attack on the workmen's compensation act already has become.

There have been sporadic attempts to make the automobile law and the state highway the bugaboos, but the prompt sustaining of the automobile law by the Supreme Court and the universal rush to comply with its provisions will soon put that into the lingo of things forgotten. The action of the supervisors' meeting, guaranteeing the prompt financing of the rest of the highway south of San Francisco demonstrates how popular the state highway is. And the few specific criticisms made only served as opportunity to show their groundlessness.

These are the specific oppositions, so far, in the stages of fizzle. And every other serious opposition will meet the same fate. Unless all signs fail, the opposition will soon cease to be either serious or specific, and will confine itself to a petty, carping, pinpricking campaign of minor criticisms—somebody's friend did not get the job he wanted on the San Francisco water front, or somebody's pet bill didn't get signed and he doesn't know why; somebody or somebody's friend fancies that he was personally or politically slighted—these and the like will be the burden of complaint. Against such principles there is no way of direct fighting. But, also, there is no danger of serious harm from them.—C. H. R. in California Outlook.

THE DIVORCE INCREASE

Hon. Joseph E. Randall, United States Senator from Louisiana, has introduced a bill into the senate proposing submission to the several states of an amendment to the constitution of the United States, prohibiting divorce for any cause whatever. A part of the suggested amendment reads as follows: "Absolute divorce with the right to re-marry shall not be permitted in the United States or in any place within its jurisdiction."

Though there is a widespread demand for uniform divorce laws within the United States, the proposition to abolish all divorces and the right to remarry will be regarded as unscriptural by many, unrighteous by others, and unnecessary in the premises by still a greater number of those who condemn divorce as it stands today.

Senator Randall, in supporting his bill, gave the following startling statistics showing how rapidly the divorce evil is spreading: The total number of divorces granted in 1867 was 9937, or twenty-seven per 100,000 population. In 1906 there were 72,062 divorces, or eighty-six per 100,000 population. Allowing for the increased population, divorce increased 319 per cent in forty years.

To put it in another way, in 1867 there was one divorce for every 3666 people, while in 1906 there was one divorce for every 1162 people. If divorces multiply at the same rate in the future as during the forty years between 1867 and 1906, and there is every indication that they will increase faster, before 1950 we shall have in the United States one divorce for every five marriages. In 1887 there was one divorce for every seventeen marriages, in 1906 there was one divorce for every twelve marriages. At the same rate in 1946 there will be one divorce for every five marriages.

DOES IT PAY?

Billie Sunday says: "I was reading the other day of the passing of 'Rube' Waddell—only 37 and gone. He was one of the brightest and brainiest men in baseball, but he couldn't beat the booze game. The 'Rube,' Matty, Plank and 'Bugs' Raymond started in baseball at the same time. All were pitchers. Two started on the wrong road and two on the right road. Two are dead, 'Bugs' and 'Rube.' Matty is as good as ever, the king in his line, and when he gets so he can't put anything on the ball he'll go to work training young pitchers at a dazzling salary. Plank, grand old man, is getting along, but he can pitch a great game. He and Matty are honored by men in every walk of life because they followed the right path. 'Rube' and 'Bugs' are dead. Does it pay?"

What Other Papers Are Saying Editorially

A MAN FOR A JOB

Orange News: The county board of forestry which is to have charge of the planting of the state and county highways of this county with suitable trees has an important though a pleasant task to perform. We are glad that this board is composed of men with an enthusiasm for such work—men who will bring to their labors a sincere desire to add a great deal to the beauty of their county; men to whom their work will mean more than the mere doing of the duties of the office. These are the kind of men who will do the thing best, because they are for Orange county. Good evidence of their attitude is that they serve without compensation.

One of the duties of this board is to appoint a county forester, who will receive $125 per month. Of course, ability to perform the duties of the office is the first consideration; but, that being equal, the position ought by all means to go to an Orange county man in preference to an outsider who has, perhaps, still to be touched by the spirit of service for his county.

This preference for local men is probably well grounded, for the public naturally has more confidence in a man whom they have known and do not have to take on another's recommendation. Perhaps this point was best illustrated in the troubles of the late highway engineer, who encountered no end of criticism on the ground that he was an "outsider." It is perfectly true that the public does feel more kindly toward a man who is "one of us" in such positions. Local pride holds it unnecessary to go outside for material.

WANTS IT FOR LESS

Fullerton Tribune: The cities of Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana should take immediate steps to purchase natural gas in Orange county at a lower rate than is now paid.

There is no reason why Orange county cities, with an abundant supply of natural gas right at our doors, should pay the present prices for natural gas when many eastern cities are buying it at as low a rate as 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

There is enough gas going to waste every day in the Fullerton fields to supply twenty cities the size of the largest city in Orange county.

We have the names of some eastern cities that are getting gas at 20 cents, notwithstanding that the natural gas has to be piped a distance of at least 250 miles to some of those cities.

The leading cities of Orange county could all be connected up by one main pipe line.

If natural gas can be furnished at a profit (and no doubt it is) by private individuals in this county, why should not the cities reap the benefit of that profit?

Every city of importance in Orange county today should be burning natural gas at reasonable prices; and we would like to see the newspapers in the various cities get behind this proposition and push it to the front.

THE LIME

By Reginal Brinsmead, Register Staff Writer

The lime is one citrus fruit which has no commercial significance in California, although, indirectly, as a competitor in more than one way with the lemon, any great increase in its consumption and use is of importance to the lemon grower of this state.

The lime is an important crop in most of the West Indian Islands, the Barbadoes, Jamaica, British Guiana, etc., while the United States draws the bulk of its supplies of limes and lime products from Dominica, which is one of the most important points of production. These imports from Dominica into this country have increased from less than $100,000 to nearly $300,000 worth in 1909 and 1913, respectively.

The crop of limes in the island of Dominica, calculated in barrels of fruit was 277,000 in 1908; 284,000 in 1909; 369,000 in 1910; 355,000 in 1911, and 370,000 in 1912. A steady increase in planting takes place each year, and in the past six years the government nurseries have sold 326,000 lime trees to planters, while large quantities have also been raised in private nurseries. The industry is here a flourishing one and steady increase in exports is looked for.

During 1912 and 1913, when the retail price of lemons both in America and Europe ruled high, a large increase in the quantity of green limes exported to this country and England developed, where they were largely used for making summer drinks and beverages; this country taking green limes valued at $53,500 in 1912 and $147,400 in 1913, against importations of but $13,200 and $15,300 in 1909 and 1910, respectively, from Dominica. These fresh or green limes are becoming increasingly popular for these uses.

The lime in Dominica is exported in a number of forms, both raw and as by-products; and the total valuation exported from the island in 1912 amounted to nearly half a million dollars, consisting of the following: Lime juice, raw, 24 1-3c per gallon; lime juice, concentrated, $1.33 per gallon; citrate of lime, 13 1-3c per pound; essential oil of lime, $2.12 per gallon; expressed oil (attar) of limes, $13.50 per pound; raw limes, $1.98 per barrel.

Small quantities of raw lime juice cordial and of pickled limes were also shipped from the island.

Lime juice, made from the citrus medica, var. acida, has long been a valued drink, and one of the old timers, carried for use on all long voyages. That it is a healthy one goes without saying.

It is of interest to note that of the total production of 370,000 barrels of limes in Dominica in 1912, ninety per cent was converted into by-products and of the total exports for the same year lime juice (raw, concentrated and as cordial) comprised seventy per cent of the total valuation.

As showing the growing importance of the industry in Dominica, toward the close of 1912 a business house in New York, which handles the bulk of the limes imported into the United States from Dominica, appointed its own agent in Dominica, to inspect consignments of fruit in order to prevent the shipment of immature, juiceless limes, and also to improve the methods of packing. The innovation proved highly successful, and promises to prove a very considerable factor in increasing future shipments; as a matter of fact the shipments of green limes from Dominica to this country practically increased 300 per cent in 1913 over those of 1912, and without question this method of handling had much to do with the increased shipments.

Orange, Cal., April 30.

Editor Register: I notice in your last night's edition that a request had been made for a county library or for some means whereby those living in out-lying districts could receive books from some source. I have not lived in California long but have wondered why this state, so advanced in most matters, seemed to have so little activity along rural library lines.

The traveling library has long served, not only the rural districts, but the smaller towns as well, in Wisconsin. It began with the State library at Madison, sending out books to responsible bodies in the smaller towns, who needed them for reference. Later, all owns of any size possessing a public library, sent out to its rural centers a box of from two to four dozen books, carefully packed and listed for distribution among responsible persons, some person in the community volunteering to act as distributing agent.

Now, though I am not sure this is done in Wisconsin, regular library wagons, fitted out, go through the district, different routes for different days just lik a meat or fish wagon, stopping at houses where books are desired and letting people select their own books.

Why cannot we have a similar arrangement, perhaps not the library on wheels but the box of books sent to a district for two weeks and exchanged at the end of that time?

The plan has worked for years in Wisconsin and I am sure if one were to write to its State Library Board, literature could be gotten on the subject.

Let us push it along, Mr. Editor, and see if Orange county can't have books in every community.

Yours truly,
MRS. W. N. CUMMINGS.

CONTROLLER CHAMBERS MAY BE RETURNED UNANIMOUSLY

Oakland Enquirer: Non-partisanship in state politics already has had an important beginning in the office of the state controller. The people have been singularly fortunate in choosing men for that post, who have been well fitted and of such character as to win general esteem. First, Controller Colgan was re-elected to the office as a candidate of both Republican and Democratic parties. Following, came A. B. Nye, who likewise broke partisan opposition, and was re-elected unanimously by the people of California. John S. Chambers, the present controller, a worthy successor of his splendid predecessor, seems at this time to have gained the same regard from the people, for thus far no one has undertaken to oppose him for election in November.

No man, ever in the history of the state, gave more valuable service than did the lamented A. B. Nye. In the selection of a successor, upon the death of Mr. Nye, Governor Johnson found in Controller Chambers a personality that seems to be a duplicate of the former controller. Chambers, like Nye, followed newspaper work for many years and was called from the editorial chair into public service. He has the same indefatigable industry; the same intense earnestness; the same gentle character; the same unswerving honesty; the same resolute, broad ability and the same spirit of devotion to duty and to friends, as marked the career of the late controller.

Controller Chambers has already made a record for himself at Sacramento. As managing editor of the Sacramento Bee for several years, he had learned how to grasp big things and to act quickly and surely. The office of the controller has big fiscal responsibilities in its keeping and Mr. Chambers, a few days after he had taken charge, was familiar with every detail and ready to cope with every question that came up.

If the people of California elect Chambers unanimously to succeed himself, they will have reason for self-congratulation. It will be testimony that the people know a good man when they see him. A highly efficient and trust-worthy public official like him is a valuable asset to the state. No opposition has developed to him thus far and it does not look as if anyone will try to contest the place with him.

The auditors in state convention, consisting of members of all parties, have endorsed Chambers and Republicans and Democrats throughout the state are frankly giving him their support. The controller's old-time newspaper friends reach into every corner of the state. In the way of newspaper support, no candidate has ever had such wide and pronounced advocacy. All newspaper men know John Chambers and he holds their affections in generous degree. He organized and for several years conducted the Superior California News department of the Sacramento Bee and then served as managing editor. Regardless of politics, the state of California should return Chambers to the office of controller, for his worth and integrity give assurance of a wide and successful administration.

HONORED PRESIDENT

First Presbyterian Ladies Show Appreciation of Work of Mrs. Morrison

The Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church met in the church parlor on May first and after the business hour turned the meeting into a "May Day" party in honor of the president, Mrs. E. L. Morrison, who has served so faithfully for two years and after much persuasion, is now entering upon her third year. The society in order to show their appreciation gave her a "post card shower" with many kind wishes for her success the coming year.

While the post cards were being showered on the president the ladies sang "There Shall be Showers of Blessings." This was followed by a beautiful quartette by four ladies. Mrs. Shephard gave two readings in a very artistic manner. "Two Lives" was rendered with such feeling it reached the hearts of all who heard it.

The discussion of several questions, both grave and humorous, followed. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ludwig, who was assisted in the singing by friends from some of our sister churches which the society appreciated very much. The afternoon closed with the serving of dainty refreshments.

Harp Soloist Coming

The choir and male quartette of the First Methodist church will give a musical entertainment at the church on next Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Aside from the work of the local musicians, the entertainment will include the appearance of Salvatore, harp soloist.

A pen sketch of the harpist follows:

Salvatore, harp soloist, is a dapper young man with the blackest hair and eyes, but when his fingers got busy with the harp strings you did not see him; it was the music—and such music! One, it seemed, would never tire of it. Although he opened the bill he was compelled to respond to half a dozen encores. His repertoire consists of everything from grand opera to rag-time, and best of all, he is a master of his art. He proved conclusively that he is a real genius.

The Philosophy Club

The club will meet Tuesday evening, at 7:30, May 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Crookshank. Subject: "The idea of a Supreme Being. How do we know there is a God? What mental image can we form of Him? How is He related to the world and to man?" The general subject of religion will be deal with historically and analytically with the aid of charts. Special attention will be given to the recent theological reconstruction under the influence of such men as James, Royce, Bergson, Eucken and others.

The First of May

May day was observed merrily last evening by the Philathea girls of the First Methodist Episcopal church after they had concluded a business meeting at the Neil Beisel home on South Birch street. Miss Grace Roberts and Miss Ada Borden had the affair in charge and they made efficient hostesses.

The reception room was gay with streamers of pink and blue crepe papers draped from the chandelier to the corners of the room. In such cheerful surroundings, the young women had a May basket-making contest in which the winner—the one making the prettiest basket—was crowned Queen of the May with floral crown and a branch of Maman Cochet roses as the royal scepter. Graphophone music helped to further enliven the scene. Another pastime was the making of names of books from the letters on cookies tnat were distributed and which were probably consumed by the contestants.

The dining room was prettily decorated in May day fashion. The prettiest feature was a miniature Maypole on a center table around which were the other small tables where the guests were grouped for the enjoyment of sandwiches, fruit salad, olives, strawberry shortcake and chocolate. The favors were tiny May baskets tied with pink and blue ribbon bows and filled with salted nuts.

May Day Party

The kindergarten children of Lincoln school entertained their friends yesterday afternoon with May day exercises, in charge of their teachers, Miss Hill and Miss Havens. The kindergarten room was prettily decorated with the children's drawings and paintings and with strands of pink flowers. The exercises all suggested the arrival of spring. After several songs and games a beautiful May-pole with pink streamers was brought in and the little tots delighted their guests with the May-pole dance.

After the dance the children left the room and returned, each with a surprise for his or her mother, a May basket of flowers. As the "good-bye" song was finished the sun, which had been hidden all afternoon, came out and the teachers took the class with their baskets to the steps where a picture was taken of the entire group.

To All Sunday School Workers

The Santa Ana District Sunday School Convention will be held in the Baptist church May 20 and 21. A strong program has been prepared to continue throughout the day and evening sessions. We are planning to entertain at least two hundred of our teachers and those interested in Sunday school work, at a banquet to be served in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church. Another feature which will add to the interest of this convention is the presentation of a fine silk flag, to the class or to the junior department of any Sunday school in this district, bringing to the convention the most original and artistic flag made from temperance clippings gathered from papers, periodicals and magazines. Plan to enter this contest. It will pay you to reserve these dates for this convention.

This meeting is open to teachers of both day and Sunday schools and all others who wish to profit by the instruction. No charge whatever and no collections are taken. Parents also are invited.

The Nightingale Club

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson were host and hostess last evening for the Nightingale Club, a whist organization of which they are members. The home at Sixth and Ross streets, recently purchased by the Johnsons, was fragrant with the perfume of myriads of flowers clustered in many May baskets hung from window draperies, chandeliers and every point of vantage to be found. The affair was altogether a merry May day event with informality prevailing. The enjoyable games of whist were played progressively and boxes of stationery were awarded to Mrs. L. A. Mayfield and Frank Hoffman for high score, with the consolation souvenirs going to Mrs. Frank Hoffman and James Pierce.

Maurice Phillips, a guest of the club, entertained the company with several choice vocal numbers. After awarding of prizes, tempting refreshments were served on small tables.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, members of the club present were Messrs. and Mesdames Chas. O. Artz, Frank Hoffman, Fred Poole, Swarthout, James Pierce, J. C. Stearns. Guests of the club were Mrs. L. A. Mayfield, an aunt of the hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Phillips, Mrs. Sam Hill, A. N. Ralfe.

For several weeks the foreign languages classes at the "Poly" high have been preparing for their annual Modern Language night which comes Friday, May 8, when three humorous comedies will be staged at the College of Music. The Spanish play, which is called "La Muela del Juicio," or "The Wisdom Tooth," has ten people in the cast. The French students will give a little sketch showing how a college girl studies. The title of the German comedy is "Einer Muss Heiraten," or "One Must Marry." All of these are of such a nature that the action will enable one to follow the story even if unfamiliar with the foreign tongue. There will be several songs, including "I Love You, California," in French, German and Spanish. The school orchestra will furnish the music. The price of admission will be ten cents and all the proceeds will be donated to the Reading Room fund which the Spanish Mission is raising.

At the Lyric

That big two-part drama, "Dolores d'Arada—Lady of Sorrow," which is the headliner at the Lyric theater today, is certainly one of the prettiest and most spectacular dramas that has been shown at this popular playhouse in some time.

The locale of this story was laid in the delightful atmosphere of Old Mexico, recalling all the most romantis and engaging of the picturesque Alamo days along the Texas border. The action is swift and the climaxes are gripping. Other pictures go to make a splendid program at this popular playhouse.

ASTOR BRIDE HAS RENOUNCED DOWER IN ASTOR ESTATE

NEW YORK, May 2.—According to the immemorial custom of the Astor family, it was said yesterday that Mrs. Vincent Astor renounced her dower rights in the vast Astor estate before her marriage on Thursday.

This has been done for generations in return for a settlement. The settlement is never very generous in proportion to the vast wealth of the family.

Vincent Astor's grandmother, Mrs. William Astor, renounced her dower rights; so did Mrs. Ava Willing Astor and Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

It was rumored today that Vincent Astor had followed another custom of the family in executing his will on his nuptial day.

GOOD CITIZEN OF BEACH PASSES AWAY

LAGUNA BEACH, May 1—The little town of Laguna Beach is saddened by the death Monday morning of L. N. Brooks, its oldest continuous resident. He has been ailing for some time past and about three weeks ago was stricken by paralysis which, combined with a very bad case of stomach trouble caused his death.

He came to Laguna in 1878 and has resided here continuously ever since. He took up as homestead land the property now known as Arch Beach and Laguna Heights. Being a man of great "staying qualities" he kept possession all these years while many others became discouraged and moved away. He and his brother, W. H. Brooks, were the first white settlers in this place. Laguna was to him the choicest spot of earth and anything that was of benefit to the town was of interest to him. He was always found a booster and could be depended upon to help in any enterprise that was beneficial to all. Many of his dreams he was permitted to see come to pass, the last being the new road now under construction. Many years ago he became a member of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in which faith he lived and died.

Nearly fifty years of his life he lived singly, then in the year 1900 he was married to Mrs. Kittie Skidmore, who survives him. He also leaves to mourn his loss four step-children, Mrs. Oscar Farman of Los Angeles, Joe, Guy and Anita Skidmore of Laguna Beach, one brother, W. H. Brooks of Laguna Beach, two sisters, Mrs. M. S. Johnson of Laguna Beach, and Mrs. Bruce Wardlow of Talbert, also many other relatives and friends throughout the county, who will long remember him as a man of kindly deeds and purposes.

Deceased was 61 years, 4 months and 21 days old at the time of death.

The funeral was held at Smith's undertaking parlors, Wednesday, April 29, 1914. Sermon was by Elder T. W. Williams of Los Angeles.

NIGHTIES MUST MATCH WALL PAPER IN LONDON

LONDON, May 2.—Nightgowns to match the wall-paper and bedding, is the latest fad of the Futurists, Cubists, post-Impressionists, etc., who have turned their talents to the art ofhome decoration. The traditional white and pale tints which have hitherto been exclusively used for robes de nuit are being ousted in ultra-smart London homes by the latest lingerie de luxe.

Just now the artistic taste is running rather violently to black silk nightgowns with pale blue ribbons, in order to match the black sheets and pillow slips which the Cubists introduced a little while ago. Black, however, is only suitable for women with fair complexions, so the brunettes are going in for delicate shades of brown, vivid scarlet and orange. It is said that scarlet with yellow ribbons makes a very fetching nightgown for a woman occupying a room decorated in red, and the fashionable lingerie establishments are turning out charming nighties of violet and white, green and white, and other combinations to match any complexion, wallpaper or bedding.

A boudoir set shown by a leading West End establishment includes a nightdress of black silk trimmed with black lace and pale blue ribbons, dressing gown of black brocade lined with pale blue turned over at the cuffs and collar, blue slippers and black boudoir cap decorated with blue bows. One aesthetic young woman who has a room decorated in dark green and white has ordered a set of dark green sheets and pillow-slips trimmed with green, a cream coverlet, green nightdress and boudoir cap with cream ribbons.

STRANGE SENTENCES PRONOUNCED IN SIDNEY

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 2.—Criminologists in Australia are greatly interested in the experiment of Judge Eagleson of the Melbourne county court, in prescribing a novel form of punishment for men whose offenses are due to drink. A young man who pleaded guilty to embezzlement was allowed his freedom on condition that he should make good within two months the amount stolen, and should abstain from drinking intoxicants and gambling "during the rest of his natural life." The slightest infraction would render him liable to a ten months' sentence. A laborer, found guilty of assault, was released under similar conditions.

RUSSIAN ESPIONAGE PREVAILS IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, May 2.—That Russia is carrying on a well-organized campaign of espionage in Sweden is borne out by the frequent arrests of persons suspected of spying. Among those recently imprisoned is a young Swedish student named Malmberg. He is accused of selling valuable information to Russian agents, in complicity with a non-commissioned officer of the Swedish army and a government clerk, who were lately convicted and sentenced to five years' hard labor.

Doings In Social and Club Circles

HONORED PRESIDENT

First Presbyterian Ladies Show Appreciation of Work of Mrs. Morrison

The Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church met in the church parlor on May first and after the business hour turned the meeting into a "May Day" party in honor of the president, Mrs. E. L. Morrison, who has served so faithfully for two years and after much persuasion, is now entering upon her third year. The society in order to show their appreciation gave her a "post card shower" with many kind wishes for her success the coming year.

While the post cards were being showered on the president the ladies sang "There Shall be Showers of Blessings." This was followed by a beautiful quartette by four ladies. Mrs. Shephard gave two readings in a very artistic manner. "Two Lives" was rendered with such feeling it reached the hearts of all who heard it.

The discussion of several questions, both grave and humorous, followed. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ludwig, who was assisted in the singing by friends from some of our sister churches which the society appreciated very much. The afternoon closed with the serving of dainty refreshments.

Harp Soloist Coming

The choir and male quartette of the First Methodist church will give a musical entertainment at the church on next Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Aside from the work of the local musicians, the entertainment will include the appearance of Salvatore, harp soloist.

A pen sketch of the harpist follows:

Salvatore, harp soloist, is a dapper young man with the blackest hair and eyes, but when his fingers got busy with the harp strings you did not see him; it was the music—and such music! One, it seemed, would never tire of it. Although he opened the bill he was compelled to respond to half a dozen encores. His repertoire consists of everything from grand opera to rag-time, and best of all, he is a master of his art. He proved conclusively that he is a real genius.

The Philosophy Club

The club will meet Tuesday evening, at 7:30, May 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Crookshank. Subject: "The idea of a Supreme Being. How do we know there is a God? What mental image can we form of Him? How is He related to the world and to man?" The general subject of religion will be deal with historically and analytically with the aid of charts. Special attention will be given to the recent theological reconstruction under the influence of such men as James, Royce, Bergson, Eucken and others.

The First of May

May day was observed merrily last evening by the Philathea girls of the First Methodist Episcopal church after they had concluded a business meeting at the Neil Beisel home on South Birch street. Miss Grace Roberts and Miss Ada Borden had the affair in charge and they made efficient hostesses.

The reception room was gay with streamers of pink and blue crepe papers draped from the chandelier to the corners of the room. In such cheerful surroundings, the young women had a May basket-making contest in which the winner—the one making the prettiest basket—was crowned Queen of the May with floral crown and a branch of Maman Cochet roses as the royal scepter. Graphophone music helped to further enliven the scene. Another pastime was the making of names of books from the letters on cookies that were distributed and which were probably consumed by the contestants.

The dining room was prettily decorated in May day fashion. The prettiest feature was a miniature Maypole on a center table around which were the other small tables where the guests were grouped for the enjoyment of sandwiches, fruit salad, olives, strawberry shortcake and chocolate. The favors were tiny May baskets tied with pink and blue ribbon bows and filled with salted nuts.

May Day Party

The kindergarten children of Lincoln school entertained their friends yesterday afternoon with May day exercises, in charge of their teachers, Miss Hill and Miss Havens. The kindergarten room was prettily decorated with the children's drawings and paintings and with strands of pink flowers. The exercises all suggested the arrival of spring. After several songs and games a beautiful May-pole with pink streamers was brought in and the little tots delighted their guests with the May-pole dance.

After the dance the children left the room and returned, each with a surprise for his or her mother, a May basket of flowers. As the "good-bye" song was finished the sun, which had been hidden all afternoon, came out and the teachers took the class with their baskets to the steps where a picture was taken of the entire group.

To All Sunday School Workers

The Santa Ana District Sunday School Convention will be held in the Baptist church May 20 and 21. A strong program has been prepared to continue throughout the day and evening sessions. We are planning to entertain at least two hundred of our teachers and those interested in Sunday school work, at a banquet to be served in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church. Another feature which will add to the interest of this convention is the presentation of a fine silk flag, to the class or to the junior department of any Sunday school in this district, bringing to the convention the most original and artistic flag made from temperance clippings gathered from papers, periodicals and magazines. Plan to enter this contest. It will pay you to reserve these dates for this convention.

They Talked In Spanish

Miss Lela James entertained the members of the Spanish Club of the high school on Thursday evening at her home on East Sixth St. The decorations were in the Spanish colors and the Spanish language was used in conversation. Part of the time was spent in a rehearsal of the Spanish play which is to be rendered at the Temple Theater on the 8th of this month.

Cards were played and Mr. Beebe entertained with parlor tricks. Refreshments of cake and ices were served by the hostess.

Lecture Sunday Afternoon

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Lucy J. Bassford, of Los Angeles, will address the Teachers' Union in the First Methodist church. Mrs. Bassford is the successor of Miss Brockway in conducting the studies pursued by the union. At her first appearance last month she made a fine impression and proved herself to be a worthy successor of Miss Brockway. This meeting is open to teachers of both day and Sunday schools and all others who wish to profit by the instruction. No charge whatever and no collections are taken. Parents also are invited.

The Nightingale Club

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson were host and hostess last evening for the Nightingale Club, a whist organization of which they are members. The home at Sixth and Ross streets, recently purchased by the Johnsons, was fragrant with the perfume of myriads of flowers clustered in many May baskets hung from window draperies, chandeliers and every point of vantage to be found. The affair was altogether a merry May day event with informality prevailing. The enjoyable games of whist were played progressively and boxes of stationery were awarded to Mrs. L. A. Mayfield and Frank Hoffman for high score, with the consolation souvenirs going to Mrs. Frank Hoffman and James Pierce.

Maurice Phillips, a guest of the club, entertained the company with several choice vocal numbers. After awarding of prizes, tempting refreshments were served on small tables.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, members of the club present were Messrs. and Mesdames Chas. O. Artz, Frank Hoffman, Fred Poole, Swarthout, James Pierce, J. C. Stearns. Guests of the club were Mrs. L. A. Mayfield, an aunt of the hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Phillips, Mrs. Sam Hill, A. N. Ralfe.

"Mr. Vandermast, you could have asked $18 for this suit and I would have been perfectly satisfied. I never saw as good quality, as well made suit for $15."

Such was the remark of a customer yesterday after buying Lot 5130—the blue serge suit at $15—upon which the Clothcraft organization devotes so much of its specialization.

On page 47 of this week's Saturday Evening Post you will find a full page "ad" explaining why they can give so much value at this price. See them in our east window.

Cosmopolitan Entertainment

For several weeks the foreign languages classes at the "Poly" high have been preparing for their annual Modern Language night which comes Friday, May 8, when three humorous comedies will be staged at the College of Music. The Spanish play, which is called "La Muela del Juicio," or "The Wisdom Tooth," has ten people in the cast. The French students will give a little sketch showing how a college girl studies. The title of the German comedy is "Einer Muss Heiraten," or "One Must Marry." All of these are of such a nature that the action will enable one to follow the story even if unfamiliar with the foreign tongue. There will be several songs, including "I Love You, California," in French, German and Spanish. The school orchestra will furnish the music. The price of admission will be ten cents and all the proceeds will be donated to the Reading Room fund which the Spanish Mission is raising.

GROCERY AND CHINA STORE CHANGES HANDS

A business change of more than ordinary interest was made this week, by which the Morrill Bros.' grocery and china store becomes the property of H. O. Williams of South Pasadena. The new owner will take charge of the business the first of next week as soon as the stock can be invoiced.

FREE EXCURSION TO OLIVEDALE TOMORROW

Tomorrow the G. D. Robertson Company will run another of their popular free excursions to Los Angeles and Hollywood, where they are placing on the market a fine residential subdivision. Their tract is called Olivedale and is only two miles from the center of the city in the direction of Hollywood. The excursion is by special electric cars, which leave the corner of Fourth and Main streets at 9 o'clock.

MRS. NEILL SELLS SOUTH MAIN STREET PROPERTY

Mauzy & Adams effected a sale this week of seventeen acres for Mary J. Neill on South Main street, opposite the Southern California Sugar Factory, to Mrs. C. E. Emmett. It is Mrs. Emmett's plan to improve this property by the erection of a comfortable residence.

They also sold a bungalow for H. L. Evas at 415 Fruit street to Mrs. A. Mathews of Los Angeles.

Another One Today

Another rig was taken this morning about 11:45. It belongs to John Utz and was tied back of Peek's butcher shop on East Fourth street, between the shop and the billiard hall at that location. The horse is a white mare and the vehicle a black top buggy.

Utz came into town this morning and returned at about 11:45 to go home. The rig was gone. He was forced to hire a conveyance to take him to his home.

At the Lyric

That big two-part drama, "Dolores d'Arada—Lady of Sorrow," which is the headliner at the Lyric theater today, is certainly one of the prettiest and most spectacular dramas that has been shown at this popular playhouse in some time.

The locale of this story was laid in the delightful atmosphere of Old Mexico, recalling all the most romantis and engaging of the picturesque Alamo days along the Texas border. The action is swift and the climaxes are gripping. Other pictures go to make a splendid program at this popular playhouse.

ASTOR BRIDE HAS RENOUNCED DOWER IN ASTOR ESTATE

NEW YORK, May 2.—According to the immemorial custom of the Astor family, it was said yesterday that Mrs. Vincent Astor renounced her dower rights in the vast Astor estate before her marriage on Thursday.

This has been done for generations in return for a settlement. The settlement is never very generous in proportion to the vast wealth of the family.

Vincent Astor's grandmother, Mrs. William Astor, renounced her dower rights; so did Mrs. Ava Willing Astor and Mrs. Madeline Force Astor.

It was rumored today that Vincent Astor had followed another custom of the family in executing his will on his nuptial day.

GOOD CITIZEN OF BEACH PASSES AWAY

LAGUNA BEACH, May 1—The little town of Laguna Beach is saddened by the death Monday morning of L. N. Brooks, its oldest continuous resident. He has been ailing for some time past and about three weeks ago was stricken by paralysis which, combined with a very bad case of stomach trouble caused his death.

He came to Laguna in 1878 and has resided here continuously ever since. He took up as homestead land the property now known as Arch Beach and Laguna Heights. Being a man of great "staying qualities" he kept possession all these years while many others became discouraged and moved away. He and his brother, W. H. Brooks, were the first white settlers in this place. Laguna was to him the choicest spot of earth and anything that was of benefit to the town was of interest to him. He was always found a booster and could be depended upon to help in any enterprise that was beneficial to all. Many of his dreams he was permitted to see come to pass, the last being the new road now under construction. Many years ago he became a member of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, in which faith he lived and died.

Nearly fifty years of his life he lived singly, then in the year 1900 he was married to Mrs. Kittie Skidmore, who survives him. He also leaves to mourn his loss four step-children, Mrs. Oscar Farman of Los Angeles, Joe, Guy and Anita Skidmore of Laguna Beach, one brother, W. H. Brooks of Laguna Beach, two sisters, Mrs. M. S. Johnson of Laguna Beach, and Mrs. Bruce Wardlow of Talbert, also many other relatives and friends throughout the county, who will long remember him as a man of kindly deeds and purposes.

Deceased was 61 years, 4 months and 21 days old at the time of death.

The funeral was held at Smith's undertaking parlors, Wednesday, April 29, 1914. Sermon was by Elder T. W. Williams of Los Angeles.

NIGHTIES MUST MATCH WALL PAPER IN LONDON

LONDON, May 2.—Nightgowns to match the wall-paper and bedding, is the latest fad of the Futurists, Cubists, post-Impressionists, etc., who have turned their talents to the art ofhome decoration. The traditional white and pale tints which have hitherto been exclusively used for robes de nuit are being ousted in ultra-smart London homes by the latest lingerie de luxe.

Just now the artistic taste is running rather violently to black silk nightgowns with pale blue ribbons, in order to match the black sheets and pillow slips which the Cubists introduced a little while ago. Black, however, is only suitable for women with fair complexions, so the brunettes are going in for delicate shades of brown, vivid scarlet and orange. It is said that scarlet with yellow ribbons makes a very fetching nightgown for a woman occupying a room decorated in red, and the fashionable lingerie establishments are turning out charming nighties of violet and white, green and white, and other combinations to match any complexion, wallpaper or bedding.

A boudoir set shown by a leading West End establishment includes a nightdress of black silk trimmed with black lace and pale blue ribbons, dressing gown of black brocade lined with pale blue turned over at the cuffs and collar, blue slippers and black boudoir cap decorated with blue bows. One aesthetic young woman who has a room decorated in dark green and white has ordered a set of dark green sheets and pillow-slips trimmed with green, a cream coverlet, green nightdress and boudoir cap with cream ribbons.

STRANGE SENTENCES PRONOUNCED IN SIDNEY

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 2.—Criminologists in Australia are greatly interested in the experiment of Judge Eagleson of the Melbourne county court, in prescribing a novel form of punishment for men whose offenses are due to drink. A young man who pleaded guilty to embezzlement was allowed his freedom on condition that he should make good within two months the amount stolen, and should abstain from drinking intoxicants and gambling "during the rest of his natural life." The slightest infraction would render him liable to a ten months' sentence. A laborer, found guilty of assault, was released under similar conditions.

To Build New Pipe Line

Articles of incorporation of the Valley Pipe Line Company with a capital of $10,000,000, the shares in which are of the par value of $10 each, have been filed in San Francisco. This company is in reality the Dutch-Shell combine and the intention is to construct, in fact, work has already begun, a pipe line to run from the Kern River fields to San Francisco Bay cities. The fact that these interests have incorporated a pipe line company in the State has aroused considerable interest, particularly in San Francisco, and there are many conjectures as to why this course was pursued. Commenting on the matter, the San Francisco Chronicle has this to say:

"The answer is probably found in the fact that the State Railroad Commission has assumed jurisdiction over pipe line companies on the ground that they are common carriers and authority must be obtained for the issuance of pipe line securities. In the case of the Standard Oil Company of California, there is but one corporation for all the properties—oil lands, wells, pipe lines, storage, refineries, tank vessels, etc. It is probable that the investment of this company in its pipe lines does not exceed 10 per cent of the total. Nevertheless, when the Standard wishes to issue stock for any purpose whatever, it must seek authority from the commission and then proceed to issue the shares in the precise manner ordered by the commission. Thus, under its right to regulate the pipe line business, the commission finds itself in control of the entire fiscal business of the corporation, so far as it desires to exercise this control.

In organizing the Valley Pipe Line Company for the exclusive business of building and operating pipe lines, the Dutch-Shell combine prevents the commission from exercising jurisdiction over any part of its fiscal business except that pertaining to its pipe line operations. Of all the properties owned or controlled by the combine, only two small ones—the W. K. and the Turner—were California corporations. The largest producing property—the California Oilfields Company, Limited—was a British corporation. Of course, all the parent companies are foreign corporations.

"The authority of the commission over fiscal matters might have been altogether evaded by forming a British corporation to build the combine's pipe line, but the experience of several corporations that tried to evade the commission's authority in financial matters has been particularly unfortunate when physical questions arose, as they are certain to sooner or later. In view of all the circumstances, the opinion prevails that the combine chose a happy policy, for it frankly recognizes the authority of the commission where jurisdiction has been assured, and prevents interference where it was intended no authority should be exercised. It is not likely that any of the stock of the Valley Pipe Line Company will reach the general market. Once authority has been obtained to issue the stock, it will probably be sold to one of the parent companies and held as an investment."

The directors of the company are W. Meischke, London, England; John Lawson, J. C. Vaneck, H. R. Gallagher, San Francisco; Balfour D. Adamson of Piedmont.

"The construction of this line by the foreign combine will add a fourth unit to the oil transportation facilities from the fields to the refining and shipping center on San Francisco Bay," continues the Chronicle. "Several times during the past year reports were current that the combine was about to commence the construction of the line, but the reports were always denied. The incorporation of the new company, however, clears up whatever doubts may have existed as to the intentions of the combine. The line will be a ten-inch affair, with a capacity of 30,000 barrels a day, and it will parallel the line of the Associated Oil Company. The terminal will be situated somewhere near Port Costa, but its exact location was not given out by the incorporators of the new company. No information is obtainable at this time as to whether a refinery will be erected in connection with the new line, but the belief is general in oil circles that the foreign syndicate is preparing to extend its activities in the State to the refining branch of the industry. In this event, the logical site for a refinery would be at the tidewater end of the line. Although the San Francisco representatives of the syndicate would not discuss the subject, reports to the effect that an important move in connection with the construction of the line was abou to be made were current in the financial district for a week or more before the articles of incorporation were filed at Sacramento."

Alfalfa

What makes the landscape look so fair;
What blossoms bright perfume the air;
What plant repays the farmer's toil,
And will enrich the worn-out soil?
Alfalfa!

What grows in loam, clay and sand;
What lifts the mortgage off the land;
What crop is cut six times a year,
And no foul weeds in it appears?
Alfalfa!

What is the crop that always pays,
And will mature in forty days;
Resisting droughts, the frost and heat,
Whose roots reach down one hundred feet?
Alfalfa!

What makes the swine so healthy feel,
And never raise a hungry squeal;
The wholesome food that never fails
To put three curls into their tails?
Alfalfa!

What makes all other stock look nice,
And bring the highest market price;
What fills the milk pails; feeds the calf,
And makes the old cow almost laugh?
Alfalfa!

Viticulture in California

Viticulturists of California, who have invested in their business in round numbers $150,000,000, are making a vigorous campaign against the prohibition movement in the State. Last year the shipment of grapes from the State was 6363 carloads, while the winemakers paid the grape growers $6,000,000 during the year. The number of persons in California engaged in the viticultural industry aggregates 75,000. There are 700 wineries in the State.

Portland Cement Production

Final figures for the Portland Cement industry in 1913, as obtained by the United State Geological Survey on March 16, show a production of 92,097,131 barrels, shipments of 88,689,377 barrels and stocks on hand 11,220,328 barrels. The estimates made by the Survey on January 15 were as follows: Production, 92,406,000 barrels, shipments, 88,853,000 barrels, and stocks on hand, 11,375,000 barrels, the error ranging from only 3-10 of 1 per cent in production to about 1 per cent in stocks on hand.

Equipment of Our Industries

"In view of the limited supply of new capital, it is well to call attention to the exceptionally well-equipped state of our leading industries," says the Wall Street Journal. "Probably never was the equipment of our farms, mines, factories, workshops, railroads, power plants and steamship lines, taken together, in so high a state of efficiency," continues the Journal.

"The less new equipment and productive facilities demand, the greater is the surplus of earnings to add to savings and working capital. Since the advent of cheap steel almost every industry has been re-equipped with steel and iron appliances, the new capital required to keep our industrial machinery in first class condition should diminish considerably, at least relatively to the volume of business done. How well these industries have been equipped is suggested by the slower rate of increase during the past few years in our per capita consumption of iron and steel:

Year	Pig Iron Production	Per Capita Consump'n	Iron & Steel Exports
1913....	30,808,300	645.4 Lbs.	$294,434,060
1912....	29,525,412	626.5	293,443,732
1911....	23,649,547	507.1	249,656,411
1910....	27,303,567	616.2	201,271,903
1909....	25,795,471	600.3	157,674,394
1908....	15,936,018	364.5	151,113,114
1907....	25,781,361	612.4	197,066,781
1906....	25,307,191	611.9	172,555,588
1903....	18,099,252	472.4	99,035,865
1900....	13,789,242	360.4	120,633,480

"Comparing 1912 and 1913 with 1906 and 1907, avoiding years in which consumption was below normal, it is noticeable that our per capita consumption of the products of pig iron increased only 4 per cent, whereas from 1900 to 1906 the gain was 65 per cent, from 1895 to 1900, 28 per cent, and from 1880 to 1895 it was 51 per cent. The slower rate of growth in consumption per individual doubtless represents the approximate completion of the re-equipment of our industries. We have substituted steel vessels for wood, rebuilt our bridges of steel; replaced office buildings and factories made of wood, brick or stone with steel frame structures, and substituted machinery made of iron and steel for almost every conceivable device operated by hand. The farmer has discarded rail and board fences for wire; the manufacturer produces his goods with steel machinery housed in a steel building; and the railroad carries those goods to market in a steel or steel underframe car.

"Steel, when 'consumed' largely, remains in service, not disappearing like wheat or corn; and therefore the more nearly complete and perfect the re-equipment of our industries becomes, the more perceptible is the tendency for per capita 'consumption' of iron and steel to increase only at a diminishing rate. With the world's supply of new capital so small, even in these times of easy money, it is fortunate that the relative perfection of our rebuilt industrial machinery helps us to regulate the demand."

Municipal Electric Stations

There are 1562 municipally owned electric light and power stations in the United States. Ten years ago there were 815 such stations. Figures presented for the United States show the total income of municipal stations for 1912 to have amounted to $23,218,989, as compared with $6,965,105 in 1902, or an increase of 233 per cent. The total number of persons employed numbered 7940 in 1912, as compared with 3417 in 1902, or an increase of 132 per cent. The total horsepower of the power plants was 559,328 in 1912, as compared with 160,028 in 1902, or an increase of 249 per cent; the horsepower of the water wheels having increased from 11,218 in 1902 to 130,261 in 1912, or 1061 per cent. These figures, compiled by the New York Evening Post, are shown in detail in the accompanying table:

New Power Company

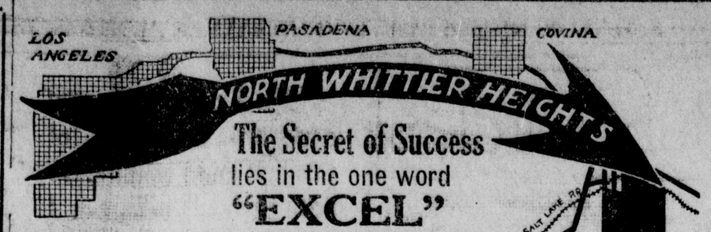

With a capital of $2,000,000 the Midland Counties Public Service Corporation of Los Angeles has filed articles of incorporation at Santa Barbara. The company will furnish light and power to the Santa Ynez Valley, a part of Santa Barbara County and all of San Luis Obispo County. The stock is equally divided between common and preferred and the controlling interest has been secured by the incorporators subscribing $1,000,500. Of this amount, William Kerckoff and A. C. Balch subscribed $250,100 each; Kaspar E. Cohen, A. Haas, A. G. Wishon and A. E. Wishon subscribed the balance. The company has acquired the power plants at Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Lompoc and other points, and plans for immediate extensions are being made.

Iowa Blue Sky Law

In the United States District Court at Keokuk, Iowa, the question of the constitutionality of the Iowa "blue sky" law, which places the control and supervision of investment companies in the hands of the Secretary of State and Attorney-General, has been argued and the case taken under advisement. It was contended by the complainants that the statute is invalid because it interferes with interstate commerce; because it inflicts severe and unusual penalties; is in conflict with fundamental rights; places legislative authority in the hands of the Secretary of State; that it is in conflict with provisions of the Federal and State constitutions, and because the act is not the same as passed by the Thirty-fifth Iowa General Assembly.

Would Change Callendar

When the International Calendar Commission holds its session in Berlin the recommendations to be made are the adoption of a fixed and unchangeable date for Easter and the giving of thirty-one days each to June and September and thirty days to February, with the shortening of other months, the idea being to give each month an equal number of working days. It has also been arranged by the commission that the first, fifteenth and thirtieth of the months never fall on a Sunday.

This fact particularly applies to the growing of Oranges, Lemons and Grapefruit, not only in California but in all the citrus districts of the world.

Time was when the European countries along the Mediterranean produced all of the commercial citrus fruits but when the Florida groves were planted, the fruit excelled the European products so much that they stood first in the American markets. Later California went into the citrus fruit growing business and today her delicious navel and uncomparable Valencia orange stand first whenever they are offered to the trade.

In California we have a number of citrus fruit growing districts among which are a few that are particularly noted for the quantity and quality of the fruit they produce.

If you are going to invest in an unplanted piece of citrus land or a young planted orange, lemon or grape fruit grove, you cannot afford to buy anything short of the best.

We shall be pleased to have prospective investors investigate our claims for our North Whittier Heights subdivision before buying elsewhere. We are confident that if you once see the property you will desire a portion for yourself.

To Build New Pipe Line

Articles of incorporation of the Valley Pipe Line Company with a capital of $10,000,000, the shares in which are of the par value of $10 each, have been filed in San Francisco. This company is in reality the Dutch-Shell combine and the intention is to construct, in fact, work has already begun, a pipe line to run from the Kern River fields to San Francisco Bay cities. The fact that these interests have incorporated a pipe line company in the State has aroused considerable interest, particularly in San Francisco, and there are many conjectures as to why this course was pursued. Commenting on the matter, the San Francisco Chronicle has this to say:

"The answer is probably found in the fact that the State Railroad Commission has assumed jurisdiction over pipe line companies on the ground that they are common carriers and authority must be obtained for the issuance of pipe line securities. In the case of the Standard Oil Company of California, there is but one corporation for all the properties—oil lands, wells, pipe lines, storage, refineries, tank vessels, etc. It is probable that the investment of this company in its pipe lines does not exceed 10 per cent of the total. Nevertheless, when the Standard wishes to issue stock for any purpose whatever, it must seek authority from the commission and then proceed to issue the shares in the precise manner ordered by the commission. Thus, under its right to regulate the pipe line business, the commission finds itself in control of the entire fiscal business of the corporation, so far as it desires to exercise this control.

In organizing the Valley Pipe Line Company for the exclusive business of building and operating pipe lines, the Dutch-Shell combine prevents the commission from exercising jurisdiction over any part of its fiscal business except that pertaining to its pipe line operations. Of all the properties owned or controlled by the combine, only two small ones—the W. K. and the Turner—were California corporations. The largest producing property—the California Oilfields Company, Limited—was a British corporation. Of course, all the parent companies are foreign corporations.

"The authority of the commission over fiscal matters might have been altogether evaded by forming a British corporation to build the combine's pipe line, but the experience of several corporations that tried to evade the commission's authority in financial matters has been particularly unfortunate when physical questions arose, as they are certain to sooner or later. In view of all the circumstances, the opinion prevails that the combine chose a happy policy, for it frankly recognizes the authority of the commission where jurisdiction has been assured, and prevents interference where it was intended no authority should be exercised. It is not likely that any of the stock of the Valley Pipe Line Company will reach the general market. Once authority has been obtained to issue the stock, it will probably be sold to one of the parent companies and held as an investment."

The directors of the company are W. Meischke, London, England; John Lawson, J. C. Vaneck, H. R. Gallagher, San Francisco; Balfour D. Adamson of Piedmont.

"The construction of this line by the foreign combine will add a fourth unit to the oil transportation facilities from the fields to the refining and shipping center on San Francisco Bay," continues the Chronicle. "Several times during the past year reports were current that the combine was about to commence the construction of the line, but the reports were always denied. The incorporation of the new company, however, clears up whatever doubts may have existed as to the intentions of the combine. The line will be a ten-inch affair, with a capacity of 30,000 barrels a day, and it will parallel the line of the Associated Oil Company. The terminal will be situated somewhere near Port Costa, but its exact location was not given out by the incorporators of the new company. No information is obtainable at this time as to whether a refinery will be erected in connection with the new line, but the belief is general in oil circles that the foreign syndicate is preparing to extend its activities in the State to the refining branch of the industry. In this event, the logical site for a refinery would be at the tidewater end of the line. Although the San Francisco representatives of the syndicate would not discuss the subject, reports to the effect that an important move in connection with the construction of the line was abou to be made were current in the financial district for a week or more before the articles of incorporation were filed at Sacramento."

Alfalfa

What makes the landscape look so fair;
What blossoms bright perfume the air;
What plant repays the farmer's toil,
And will enrich the worn-out soil?
Alfalfa!

What grows in loam, clay and sand;
What lifts the mortgage off the land;
What crop is cut six times a year,
And no foul weeds in it appears?
Alfalfa!

What is the crop that always pays,
And will mature in forty days;
Resisting droughts, the frost and heat,
Whose roots reach down one hundred feet?
Alfalfa!

What makes the swine so healthy feel,
And never raise a hungry squeal;
The wholesome food that never fails
To put three curls into their tails?
Alfalfa!

What makes all other stock look nice,
And bring the highest market price;
What fills the milk pails; feeds the calf,
And makes the old cow almost laugh?
Alfalfa!

Viticulture in California

Viticulturists of California, who have invested in their business in round numbers $150,000,000, are making a vigorous campaign against the prohibition movement in the State. Last year the shipment of grapes from the State was 6363 carloads, while the winemakers paid the grape growers $6,000,000 during the year. The number of persons in California engaged in the viticultural industry aggregates 75,000. There are 700 wineries in the State.

Portland Cement Production

Final figures for the Portland Cement industry in 1913, as obtained by the United State Geological Survey on March 16, show a production of 92,097,131 barrels, shipments of 88,689,377 barrels and stocks on hand 11,220,328 barrels. The estimates made by the Survey on January 15 were as follows: Production, 92,406,000 barrels, shipments, 88,853,000 barrels, and stocks on hand, 11,375,000 barrels, the error ranging from only 3-10 of 1 per cent in production to about 1 per cent in stocks on hand.

Equipment of Our Industries

"In view of the limited supply of new capital, it is well to call attention to the exceptionally well-equipped state of our leading industries," says the Wall Street Journal. "Probably never was the equipment of our farms, mines, factories, workshops, railroads, power plants and steamship lines, taken together, in so high a state of efficiency," continues the Journal.

"The less new equipment and productive facilities demand, the greater is the surplus of earnings to add to savings and working capital. Since the advent of cheap steel almost every industry has been re-equipped with steel and iron appliances, the new capital required to keep our industrial machinery in first class condition should diminish considerably, at least relatively to the volume of business done. How well these industries have been equipped is suggested by the slower rate of increase during the past few years in our per capita consumption of iron and steel:

Year	Pig Iron Production	Per Capita Consump'n	Iron & Steel Exports
1913....	30,808,300	645.4 Lbs.	$294,434,060
1912....	29,525,412	626.5	293,443,732
1911....	23,649,547	507.1	249,656,411
1910....	27,303,567	616.2	201,271,903
1909....	25,795,471	600.3	157,674,394
1908....	15,936,018	364.5	151,113,114
1907....	25,781,361	612.4	197,066,781
1906....	25,307,191	611.9	172,555,588
1903....	18,099,252	472.4	99,035,865
1900....	13,789,242	360.4	120,633,480

"Comparing 1912 and 1913 with 1906 and 1907, avoiding years in which consumption was below normal, it is noticeable that our per capita consumption of the products of pig iron increased only 4 per cent, whereas from 1900 to 1906 the gain was 65 per cent, from 1895 to 1900, 28 per cent, and from 1880 to 1895 it was 51 per cent. The slower rate of growth in consumption per individual doubtless represents the approximate completion of the re-equipment of our industries. We have substituted steel vessels for wood, rebuilt our bridges of steel; replaced office buildings and factories made of wood, brick or stone with steel frame structures, and substituted machinery made of iron and steel for almost every conceivable device operated by hand. The farmer has discarded rail and board fences for wire; the manufacturer produces his goods with steel machinery housed in a steel building; and the railroad carries those goods to market in a steel or steel underframe car.

"Steel, when 'consumed' largely, remains in service, not disappearing like wheat or corn; and therefore the more nearly complete and perfect the re-equipment of our industries becomes, the more perceptible is the tendency for per capita 'consumption' of iron and steel to increase only at a diminishing rate. With the world's supply of new capital so small, even in these times of easy money, it is fortunate that the relative perfection of our rebuilt industrial machinery helps us to regulate the demand."

Municipal Electric Stations

There are 1562 municipally owned electric light and power stations in the United States. Ten years ago there were 815 such stations. Figures presented for the United States show the total income of municipal stations for 1912 to have amounted to $23,218,989, as compared with $6,965,105 in 1902, or an increase of 233 per cent. The total number of persons employed numbered 7940 in 1912, as compared with 3417 in 1902, or an increase of 132 per cent. The total horsepower of the power plants was 559,328 in 1912, as compared with 160,028 in 1902, or an increase of 249 per cent; the horsepower of the water wheels having increased from 11,218 in 1902 to 130,261 in 1912, or 1061 per cent. These figures, compiled by the New York Evening Post, are shown in detail in the accompanying table:

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The first cars of local potatoes have been shipped, two of them leaving this week for the north. They were of the Early Rose variety and billed for Seattle and Portland. One was shipped by a Chinese producer and the other by a white broker. The local market on the spuds was down to $2.25 yesterday morning or 75 cents a lug box. At that figure they moved very freely. The acreage in potatoes this year is said to be a trifle larger than last year. At the present time, indication points to a good crop. Oregon and Washington are practically exchanging spuds. We are getting the bulk of supply of old potatoes from there at this time. Oregons sold in car lots at $1.25 yesterday on fancy quality. Washingtons brought the same figure. Lompocs are practically cleaned up and no longer coming to this market. What river stock is arriving is of inferior quality. Receipts of potatoes yesterday totaled 8558 sacks.

The price of eggs advanced to 24 cents, equalling the quotation established in San Francisco. Buying was active on the rising market. Northern shipments here have been lighter this week than last and there has been no heavy increase in eastern arrivals. Butter market was steady and there was no change in prices.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The first cars of local potatoes have been shipped, two of them leaving this week for the north. They were of the Early Rose variety and billed for Seattle and Portland. One was shipped by a Chinese producer and the other by a white broker. The local market on the spuds was down to $2.25 yesterday morning or 75 cents a lug box. At that figure they moved very freely. The acreage in potatoes this year is said to be a trifle larger than last year. At the present time, indication points to a good crop. Oregon and Washington are practically exchanging spuds. We are getting the bulk of supply of old potatoes from there at this time. Oregons sold in car lots at $1.25 yesterday on fancy quality. Washingtons brought the same figure. Lompocs are practically cleaned up and no longer coming to this market. What river stock is arriving is of inferior quality. Receipts of potatoes yesterday totaled 8558 sacks.

The price of eggs advanced to 24 cents, equalling the quotation established in San Francisco. Buying was active on the rising market. Northern shipments here have been lighter this week than last and there has been no heavy increase in eastern arrivals. Butter market was steady and there was no change in prices.

STIRRING STORY WELL TOLD AND PLAYED

"Shepherd of Bethlehem," Staged at Grand, is Successful Spectacle

The Shepherd of Bethlehem, a spectacular production presenting in drama the story of David and Jonathan, with King Saul, of Israel, the Prophet Samuel, the Princess Michal and the Witch of Endor as other conspicuous figures in the Biblical spectacle, was presented last night at the Grand before a goodly audience. The friendship of David and Jonathan is one of the most tender and beautiful in history. Happily for its dramatized production, the delineation of the two heroes is in capable hands. David, the gentle keeper of flocks and heroic slayer of wild beasts and the Giant Goliath, is presented with inspiring fidelity to an heroic conception by B. Percy Greenfield. A winning personality, graceful movement and a charming speaking and singing voice well equip Mr. Greenfield as an ideal David. He is especially attractive in his shepherd garb.

E. R. Longley as the impulsive lovable Jonathan, son of Saul, personified the part with genuine spirit. Mr. Longley is particularly fortunate in his voice which is musical and far-carrying. He was happy in his admirable reaching of climaxes, noticeable, for example, in passage with David where he discloses the knowledge that he is to lose his heirship to the throne of Israel to David, the friend of his heart and the anointed of God.

Saul, king of Israel, is powerfully played by Frederick H. Wilson, the author and producer of the drama. Of physique and voice appropriate, and royally appareled, Mr. Wilson gave a striking portraiture of the haughty monarch who rages against diminishing power, and the decay of body and mind. His nocturnal interview with the Witch of Endor, the latter strongly played by Mabel V. Longley, was one of the impressive scenes of the play.

Princess Michal, Saul's youngest daughter, was charmingly taken by Evelyn N. Duncan, who was entirely a creature of soft and winning ways at one moment, and the martial daughter of the King of Israel the next. She was like a bright thread of gold weaving in and out of the woof of war and family disaster. Her maids in waiting were pretty and graceful.

Jesse and the Prophet Samuel were well taken by W. R. Blair and David H. Gates. The "Voice of Goliath" was so audible as to be almost visible. Whether Frank H. Love, billed as the "Voice," really owns such a voice immensity as was projected on the air, or is aided by a sizable megaphone was hardly a matter of doubt, a good guess being in favor of the latter proposition. The king's guards were gorgeous and made an effective note of color. The costuming was effective, and scenic effects were excellent. All in all the noble story is beautifully told, well acted and staged.

"The Shepherd of Bethlehem" was given here under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of this city. Soldiers for the production were drawn from the membership of Canton Santa Ana.

HOW DRYS WON DOWN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Edward Mills, Noted Prohibition Speaker, to Tell the Story at City Hall Monday

EDWARD MILLS

Edward Mills, former Prohibition candidate for governor of West Virginia, and a member of the National Prohibition Committee, will speak next Monday afternoon, May 4th, in the City Hall, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Mills was for ten years the chairman of the Prohibition State Committee of West Virginia and during all that time waged a continuous warfare against the liquor traffic, resulting in the adoption of Constitutional Prohibition in that state by a majority of more than 92,000 votes. His address next Monday afternoon will be of special interest to the people of Orange county as he will tell how the battle was won in the state of West Virginia. Women as well as men are cordially invited to attend this conference and public meeting.

RUSSIAN COURTS ARE SLOW-GEARED

Senate Took 13 Years to Decide to Grant Permit to Photographer

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—The slow speed gear under which the Supreme Court of the United States sometimes operates can scarcely compare in effectiveness with that attached to the wheels of justice in Russia. The senate, which is the supreme court of the Empire, after deliberating on the question for thirteen years, has just decided that a Jew named Vaxman may establish a photograph gallery at Kholm.

It was in 1901 that the photographer, who was conducting a studio in Krasnostav, Poland, asked the governor's permission to start a branch shop in the neighboring town of Kholm. The governor refused, on the ground that Kholm was an "important strategical and religious center where a Jew would be out of place."

Vaxman appealed to the senate, and both he and the governor filed voluminous briefs in support of their respective contentions. According to the belated decision, the governor acted illegally, and a mandate was issued permitting Vaxman to begin business in Kholm at his pleasure.

Court officials sent to serve the papers, however, have been unable to locate the photographer who long ago moved from Krasnostav. Folks there do not even know whether he is alive.

BOUNTY ON RABBITS IS REMOVED IN OREGON

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., May 2.—One of the winter occupations of the Klamath county ranchers, that of killing jack rabbits for bounty, has been dealt a death blow by the county court, by an order removing the bounty from the head of the "jacks." The slaughter, according to the members of the court, has removed all danger to crops, so a bounty is considered unnecessary at present.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

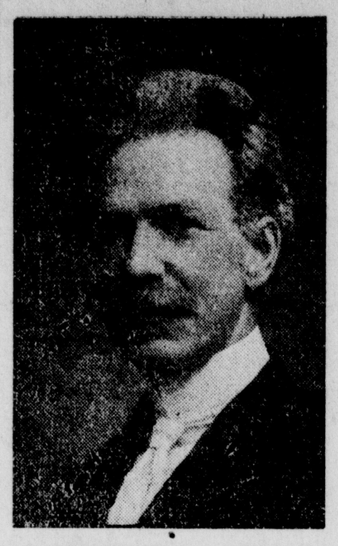

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

EDWARD MILLS WILL TELL THRILLING STORY

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PROVED REAL ONE

(By Staff Correspondent)

ORANGE, May 2.—A birthday surprise, that was a real surprise, a baby show and various other forms of entertainment, were crowded into a party at the W. F. Crist home in El Modena last evening. Mr. Crist's 52nd birthday and also the birthday of Vernon Stanfield who was one of the guests, was the occasion for the gathering, and it is stated on the best of authority that every one had a "ratlin' good time."

The baby show was a very good one, with fourteen kiddies entered. In one class for babies over a year old, Walter West's two-year-old girl won first prize, a box of chocolates. In the other class, for babies under a year, the prize box of marshmallows went to H. M. Gray's boy. Mr. John King entered a nigger doll and Mrs. W. M. Durham a rag baby. The latter won a slice of cake.

The evening was otherwise spent in vocal and instrumental music, while the two guests of honor were duly and liberally spanked.

A taffy pull was another pleasant feature that must be mentioned with the rest.

Decorations of roses were used effectively in adorning the home. About sixty-five guests were in attendance.

An art exhibition was given yesterday at the Glassell street grammar school which, during the present term has been exclusively under the instruction of Miss Carrie Roberts.

The exhibit contained many fine features and the work of the pupils from the lowest to the highest grades was most commendable.

A May day social was given by the Loyal Woman's class of the Christian church Sunday school yesterday afternoon.

The big feature of the entertainment was contained in a novel "trolley trip" which took the members to various parts of the country. Miss Anna Granger acted as conductor of the excursion, Mrs. McGill as brakeman, Mrs. Porter as news agent. Twenty minutes were allowed at one stop for refreshments. The trip was conducted in the church basement, and each time the bell clanged, all passengers were compelled to change seats and converse about some feature of the place they happened to be stopping at, at the time.

Twenty members of the class were present.

The Daughters of Veterans held their regular meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall yesterday afternoon and initiated one candidate. Mrs. Prudence J. Woolsey, a member of the tent here, but who resides in Placentia, was present. Delegates to the State Department convention which is to be held in San Diego next week were elected. Mrs. W. W. Perry, president of this tent, and Mrs. Della F. Bishop, past president of the department were the delegates chosen. Partial plans were made for Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Taylor of Marion, Iowa, who have been spending the winter in Southern California, with headquarters in Long Beach, are guests at the C. M. Scott home on East Almond avenue. Mrs. L. E. Jones and Mrs. L. B. Gitchell will be dinner guests at the Scott home this evening.

About a dozen of the J. O. C. girls of the M. E. Sunday school held a farewell party at the church parlors last evening in honor of Miss Edna Craw, who will soon move to Idaho. The evening was spent with music and games and a general good time. A taffy pull was one of the features of the evening. Those present were Miss Edna Craw, Miss Lydia Killefer, Miss Hilda Kerchoff, Miss Ruth Hull, Miss Evangeline Hull, Miss Pansy Prince, Miss Fern Roberts, Miss Cloe Jones, Miss Lottie Carriker, Miss Margaret Palmer and Miss Dora Harris.

A few neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leech, surprised them at their home on North Tustin street Thursday evening, the occasion being their eighteenth wedding anniversary.

A jolly evening was filled with music and other social pastimes until refreshments were served, at a late hour. About a dozen made up the party.

S. B. Heading, manager of the Star theater, went to San Bernardino yesterday on a business trip. He will return today.

Little Gladys Moore of El Modena went to Whittier this morning to visit relatives over Sunday.

Lois Gearhart of Los Angeles returned to her home this morning after spending two weeks with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ainsworth of East Chapman avenue.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

PROMISES TO SIN NO MORE

Chin How's Dark Ways and Vain Tricks Cost Him $200

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the Heathen Chinee is peculiar," was proved again when Chin How was brought over from Anaheim yesterday by Roy Jones, an inspector of the State Pharmacy Board, and arraigned before Justice Cox on two charges of having opium in his possession. How's outfit, a complete one, consisting of pipes, scales and all other necessary "dope" paraphernalia was confiscated by the state inspector.

The Chinaman pleaded guilty on both charges and Justice Cox assessed him the minimum fine, $100, on each charge. The slant-eyed Celestial pungled up, saying that he would go home and sin no more.

Trial Set for May 11

George Williams, sometimes known as "Coyote" Williams, was brought before Justice Cox yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace of his wife and neighbors. Williams pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for May 11. Williams hails from Newhope. He was released on $100 bonds.

Slept in Packing House 4

For sleeping in the packing house of C. C. Collins Company on the Santa Fe tracks, Manuel Salazar was brought in on a vagrancy charge and given the opportunity of putting in 15 days in jail.

For Disturbing the Peace

Filipe Vallertes pleaded guilty of disturbing the peace and being drunk. He was collared by Officer Davenport several days ago at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. On Davenport's trying to make the arrest the Mexican made a move as though to draw a gun and Davenport was forced to display his own artillery. Upon examination it was found that Vallertes had only been bluffing. Not having $30 in his possession, the Mexian is now spending 30 days in durance vile.

SAGACIOUS DOG SAVES MASTER

GENEVA, May 2.—Having been entombed in a huge avalanche, Joseph Moser, a young Swiss of Valais, owes his life to the sagacity of his dog. Both had been overwhelmed in the big slide, but the dog managed to get free and made his way to Moser's home, where its peculiar behavior led his father to summon the neighbors and set out in search of the young man. Piloted by the dog the party reached the valanche and after six hours succeeded in extracting the youth, who was unconscious and barely alive.

STIRRING STORY WELL TOLD AND PLAYED

"Shepherd of Bethlehem," Staged at Grand, is Successful Spectacle

The Shepherd of Bethlehem, a spectacular production presenting in drama the story of David and Jonathan, with King Saul, of Israel, the Prophet Samuel, the Princess Michal and the Witch of Endor as other conspicuous figures in the Biblical spectacle, was presented last night at the Grand before a goodly audience. The friendship of David and Jonathan is one of the most tender and beautiful in history. Happily for its dramatized production, the delineation of the two heroes is in capable hands. David, the gentle keeper of flocks and heroic slayer of wild beasts and the Giant Goliath, is presented with inspiring fidelity to an heroic conception by B. Percy Greenfield. A winning personality, graceful movement and a charming speaking and singing voice well equip Mr. Greenfield as an ideal David. He is especially attractive in his shepherd garb.

E. R. Longley as the impulsive lovable Jonathan, son of Saul, personified the part with genuine spirit. Mr. Longley is particularly fortunate in his voice which is musical and far-carrying. He was happy in his admirable reaching of climaxes, noticeable, for example, in passage with David where he discloses the knowledge that he is to lose his heirship to the throne of Israel to David, the friend of his heart and the anointed of God.

Saul, king of Israel, is powerfully played by Frederick H. Wilson, the author and producer of the drama. Of physique and voice appropriate, and royally appareled, Mr. Wilson gave a striking portraiture of the haughty monarch who rages against diminishing power, and the decay of body and mind. His nocturnal interview with the Witch of Endor, the latter strongly played by Mabel V. Longley, was one of the impressive scenes of the play.

Princess Michal, Saul's youngest daughter, was charmingly taken by Evelyn N. Duncan, who was entirely a creature of soft and winning ways at one moment, and the martial daughter of the King of Israel the next. She was like a bright thread of gold weaving in and out of the woof of war and family disaster. Her maids in waiting were pretty and graceful.

Jesse and the Prophet Samuel were well taken by W. R. Blair and David H. Gates. The "Voice of Goliath" was so audible as to be almost visible. Whether Frank H. Love, billed as the "Voice," really owns such a voice immensity as was projected on the air, or is aided by a sizable megaphone was hardly a matter of doubt, a good guess being in favor of the latter proposition. The king's guards were gorgeous and made an effective note of color. The costuming was effective, and scenic effects were excellent. All in all the noble story is beautifully told, well acted and staged.

"The Shepherd of Bethlehem" was given here under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of this city. Soldiers for the production were drawn from the membership of Canton Santa Ana.

HOW DRYS WON DOWN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Edward Mills, Noted Prohibition Speaker, to Tell the Story at City Hall Monday

EDWARD MILLS

Edward Mills, former Prohibition candidate for governor of West Virginia, and a member of the National Prohibition Committee, will speak next Monday afternoon, May 4th, in the City Hall, at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Mills was for ten years the chairman of the Prohibition State Committee of West Virginia and during all that time waged a continuous warfare against the liquor traffic, resulting in the adoption of Constitutional Prohibition in that state by a majority of more than 92,000 votes. His address next Monday afternoon will be of special interest to the people of Orange county as he will tell how the battle was won in the state of West Virginia. Women as well as men are cordially invited to attend this conference and public meeting.

RUSSIAN COURTS ARE SLOW-GEARED

Senate Took 13 Years to Decide to Grant Permit to Photographer

ST. PETERSBURG, May 2.—The slow speed gear under which the Supreme Court of the United States sometimes operates can scarcely compare in effectiveness with that attached to the wheels of justice in Russia. The senate, which is the supreme court of the Empire, after deliberating on the question for thirteen years, has just decided that a Jew named Vaxman may establish a photograph gallery at Kholm.

It was in 1901 that the photographer, who was conducting a studio in Krasnostav, Poland, asked the governor's permission to start a branch shop in the neighboring town of Kholm. The governor refused, on the ground that Kholm was an "important strategical and religious center where a Jew would be out of place."

Vaxman appealed to the senate, and both he and the governor filed voluminous briefs in support of their respective contentions. According to the belated decision, the governor acted illegally, and a mandate was issued permitting Vaxman to begin business in Kholm at his pleasure.

Court officials sent to serve the papers, however, have been unable to locate the photographer who long ago moved from Krasnostav. Folks there do not even know whether he is alive.

BOUNTY ON RABBITS IS REMOVED IN OREGON

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., May 2.—One of the winter occupations of the Klamath county ranchers, that of killing jack rabbits for bounty, has been dealt a death blow by the county court, by an order removing the bounty from the head of the "jacks." The slaughter, according to the members of the court, has removed all danger to crops, so a bounty is considered unnecessary at present.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

EDWARD MILLS WILL TELL THRILLING STORY

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PROVED REAL ONE

(By Staff Correspondent)

ORANGE, May 2.—A birthday surprise, that was a real surprise, a baby show and various other forms of entertainment, were crowded into a party at the W. F. Crist home in El Modena last evening. Mr. Crist's 52nd birthday and also the birthday of Vernon Stanfield who was one of the guests, was the occasion for the gathering, and it is stated on the best of authority that every one had a "ratlin' good time."

The baby show was a very good one, with fourteen kiddies entered. In one class for babies over a year old, Walter West's two-year-old girl won first prize, a box of chocolates. In the other class, for babies under a year, the prize box of marshmallows went to H. M. Gray's boy. Mr. John King entered a nigger doll and Mrs. W. M. Durham a rag baby. The latter won a slice of cake.

The evening was otherwise spent in vocal and instrumental music, while the two guests of honor were duly and liberally spanked.

A taffy pull was another pleasant feature that must be mentioned with the rest.

Decorations of roses were used effectively in adorning the home. About sixty-five guests were in attendance.

An art exhibition was given yesterday at the Glassell street grammar school which, during the present term has been exclusively under the instruction of Miss Carrie Roberts.

The exhibit contained many fine features and the work of the pupils from the lowest to the highest grades was most commendable.

A May day social was given by the Loyal Woman's class of the Christian church Sunday school yesterday afternoon.

The big feature of the entertainment was contained in a novel "trolley trip" which took the members to various parts of the country. Miss Anna Granger acted as conductor of the excursion, Mrs. McGill as brakeman, Mrs. Porter as news agent. Twenty minutes were allowed at one stop for refreshments. The trip was conducted in the church basement, and each time the bell clanged, all passengers were compelled to change seats and converse about some feature of the place they happened to be stopping at, at the time.

Twenty members of the class were present.

The Daughters of Veterans held their regular meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall yesterday afternoon and initiated one candidate. Mrs. Prudence J. Woolsey, a member of the tent here, but who resides in Placentia, was present. Delegates to the State Department convention which is to be held in San Diego next week were elected. Mrs. W. W. Perry, president of this tent, and Mrs. Della F. Bishop, past president of the department were the delegates chosen. Partial plans were made for Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Taylor of Marion, Iowa, who have been spending the winter in Southern California, with headquarters in Long Beach, are guests at the C. M. Scott home on East Almond avenue. Mrs. L. E. Jones and Mrs. L. B. Gitchell will be dinner guests at the Scott home this evening.

About a dozen of the J. O. C. girls of the M. E. Sunday school held a farewell party at the church parlors last evening in honor of Miss Edna Craw, who will soon move to Idaho. The evening was spent with music and games and a general good time. A taffy pull was one of the features of the evening. Those present were Miss Edna Craw, Miss Lydia Killefer, Miss Hilda Kerchoff, Miss Ruth Hull, Miss Evangeline Hull, Miss Pansy Prince, Miss Fern Roberts, Miss Cloe Jones, Miss Lottie Carriker, Miss Margaret Palmer and Miss Dora Harris.

A few neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leech, surprised them at their home on North Tustin street Thursday evening, the occasion being their eighteenth wedding anniversary.

A jolly evening was filled with music and other social pastimes until refreshments were served, at a late hour. About a dozen made up the party.

S. B. Heading, manager of the Star theater, went to San Bernardino yesterday on a business trip. He will return today.

Little Gladys Moore of El Modena went to Whittier this morning to visit relatives over Sunday.

Lois Gearhart of Los Angeles returned to her home this morning after spending two weeks with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ainsworth of East Chapman avenue.

Chin How's Dark Ways and Vain Tricks Cost Him $200

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the Heathen Chinee is peculiar," was proved again when Chin How was brought over from Anaheim yesterday by Roy Jones, an inspector of the State Pharmacy Board, and arraigned before Justice Cox on two charges of having opium in his possession. How's outfit, a complete one, consisting of pipes, scales and all other necessary "dope" paraphernalia was confiscated by the state inspector.

The Chinaman pleaded guilty on both charges and Justice Cox assessed him the minimum fine, $100, on each charge. The slant-eyed Celestial pungled up, saying that he would go home and sin no more.

Trial Set for May 11

George Williams, sometimes known as "Coyote" Williams, was brought before Justice Cox yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace of his wife and neighbors. Williams pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for May 11. Williams hails from Newhope. He was released on $100 bonds.

Slept in Packing House 4

For sleeping in the packing house of C. C. Collins Company on the Santa Fe tracks, Manuel Salazar was brought in on a vagrancy charge and given the opportunity of putting in 15 days in jail.

For Disturbing the Peace

Filipe Vallertes pleaded guilty of disturbing the peace and being drunk. He was collared by Officer Davenport several days ago at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. On Davenport's trying to make the arrest the Mexican made a move as though to draw a gun and Davenport was forced to display his own artillery. Upon examination it was found that Vallertes had only been bluffing. Not having $30 in his possession, the Mexican is now spending 30 days in durance vile.
